Mints for Mexicans Flop: Canadians Lose $1.8M

TORONTO (CP) — The Canada Development Corp. lost about $1.8 million in a deal to manufacture breath fresheners in Mexico, according to the Globe and Mail.

The corporation entered the venture after Connlab Holdings Ltd., its health-care holding company, and Dumex of Denmark, a pharmaceutical manufacturer in which the corporation holds a majority interest, wanted a foothold in the Mexican market, according to the Globe report.

Fifty-one per cent of the venture — called Dumex of Mexico — was owned by Peter Kuntz, a United States business executive, and the remaining 49 per cent by Connlab and Dumex of Denmark, it says.

Kuntz, president of Dumex of Mexico, owes about $600,000 on a promissory note to the corporation and fears he might be jailed in Mexico as long as he does not have the money to redeem the note, the paper adds.

When the Mexican plant closed last January after four years of operation, many Mexican workers accepted boxes of mints instead of the salaries to which they were entitled, the newspaper says.

It says one of the Mexican owners of the rented factory had to sue to collect back rent and eventually was paid some rent in mints.

Pilots Strike Wednesday Against Air Can

Air Canada's 1,700 pilots have voted 96.6 per cent in favor of strike action, spokesmen for the Canadian Air Line Pilots' Association report.

The strike is to start at midnight Wednesday, Victoria time.

But in Montreal, Air Canada president Claude Taylor said today he was still optimistic a strike by the pilots could be averted and offered concessions which he hopes the pilots "will accept as a basis to not go on strike."

Captain Norman Foster, chairman of the association's master executive council, said concessions offered to the association by Claude Taylor, president of Air Canada, contain nothing that could avert a strike.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for CP Air says the airline's reservations lines have been jammed since Sunday afternoon.

Mike Dukelow said CP Air will attempt to handle as many passengers as possible. However, it is the peak season and all available aircraft are already in use.

"There is no way we can handle all of Air Canada's operation," he said.

"We're pleading for patience and trying to do what we can. The system is overtaxed."

Foster said Air Canada's pilots have reduced their demands to a minimum of three demands from 65.

The three demands are a one-year contract, removal of anti-inflation board limits to salary increases and acceptance of the principle of a merged Air Canada-Nordair pilot seniority list.

Foster said there is agreement with Air Canada on all issues except the seniority list.

He said this issue is so important it is worth striking for.

In his telegram sent to the association today, Taylor said the Air Canada-Nordair seniority issue should be deferred to a future date.

Taylor said he had offered to submit to binding arbitration a longstanding dispute over whether pilots should be permitted to fly first class, or "deadhead," to and from flight assignments.

In addition, he said, the Crown-owned airline was willing to accept a one-year contract, as demanded by CALPA. Air Canada had been holding out for a three-year contract, according to pilots' spokesmen.

Length of the contract has been a major issue. Air Canada still has one year to run under anti-inflation board controls and the pilots had sought a one-year contract while the company preferred a three-year agreement.

The airline also said it has told the association that issues involving Nordair are not negotiable because Air Canada does not own any shares in the Montreal-based regional airline.

If a strike does occur, it would be the first in CALPA's 41-year history.

BOY FLED — INTO FLAMES

A seven-year-old boy being led to safety from his burning home in Nanaimo died early this morning when he suddenly turned and ran into the heart of the fire.

Jamie Larsen was killed and six other people were taken to hospital when a wooden house in the 3800 block McIsaac Place suddenly caught fire at about 1 a.m.

In hospital suffering minor burns and smoke inhalation are Mrs. Zoe-Ann Larsen, her daughter Tamra, 12, her son Richard 15 and A. D. Thorkelson, 31 and his sons Gordon, 9 and Nigel 11.

Police said Thorkelson woke around 1 a.m. to find the house engulfed in flames. He helped Mrs. Larsen out the bedroom window and then re-entered the house to search for the children.

He found Jamie, and was leading him out, when the young boy apparently panicked with only a few yards to go to safety.

"Mr. Thorkelson was leading him down the hall when the boy bolted and ran into the heart of the fire," said a police spokesman.

He said that Thorkelson managed to stumble from the house before being overcome by smoke.

Israelis Avenge Attack

Times News Services

Israeli planes attacked two Palestinian centres in Lebanon at dawn today in retaliation for a Palestinian grenade and sub-machine-gun attack on an Israeli airline bus in London less than 24 hours before.

The Palestine Liberation Organization said three guerrillas were killed and 14 were wounded in the Israeli attack on the Burj el Barajneh refugee camp on the south side of Beirut. The communique said the village school in Damour, 22 kilometres south of the Lebanese capital, also was attacked, but there were no casualties there.

The Israelis said all planes returned safely to base from the dawn attack, the first of its kind in 19 days.

A guerrilla base in southern Lebanon was hit on Aug. 3 after a bomb explosion in a Tel Aviv market killed a 71-year-old man and wounded 49 persons.

In the London bus attack, an Israeli airline stewardess and one of the Palestinian attackers were killed, and two other stewardesses and seven British bystanders were injured. One of the injured stewardesses was in critical condition.

One of the terrorists also was killed when a grenade exploded in his face, Scotland Yard said.

Two jets strafed and rocketed the refugee camp, a stronghold of Dr. George Habash's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, and three others hit Damour, witnesses reported.

Palestinian spokesmen in Beirut said anti-aircraft fire hit one of the raiders, but the Israeli spokesmen said all planes returned safely.

Movie Death-Trap For 377 in Iran

TEHRAN — Ten people are being questioned as suspects in the fire that killed nearly 400 people in a movie theatre in Abadan during the weekend.

Gen. Reza Razmi, chief of police in the southern Iranian city, said several of those arrested were schoolteachers but he did not elaborate further.

Normal life in Abadan, Iran's oil-industry capital, has ground to a virtual standstill since arsonists flooded the Rex movie theatre with gasoline and set it on fire.

The streets echoed with scores of mourning Moslem muezzins reciting the Koran, and many in the city wore black today. Large sections of the city's commercial centres were closed.

Iranian officials Sunday accused Moslem extremists seeking the overthrow of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of setting the fire in the packed moviehouse, the doors of which were locked.

The fire came on the eve of the 25th annniversary of the Shah's return to power in a coup backed by the CIA after a brief exile.

It was generally assumed that the arson was the work of ultra-conservative Moslem fanatics who oppose the shah's reform programs and also demand all public entertainment be shut down during the holy month of Ramadan, now in progress. Since Ramadan began Aug. 8, they have made bomb or arson attacks on movie houses, restaurants, nightclubs, banks and private and public buildings.

The police chief said seven of those arrested were carrying explosives when they were picked up. He said two employees of the movie house

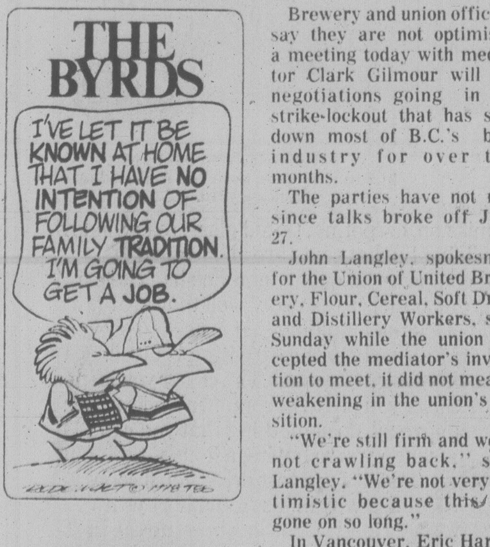
Beer Row Hopes Dim



THE BYRDS
I'VE LET IT BE KNOWN AT HOME THAT I HAVE NO INTENTION OF FOLLOWING OUR FAMILY TRADITION. I'M GOING TO GET A JOB.

Brewery and union officials say they are not optimistic a meeting today with mediator Clark Gilmour will get negotiations going in the strike-lockout that has shut down most of B.C.'s beer industry for over two months.

The parties have not met since talks broke off June 27.

John Langley, spokesman for the Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers, said Sunday while the union accepted the mediator's invitation to meet, it did not mean a weakening in the union's position.

"We're still firm and we're not crawling back," said Langley. "We're not very optimistic because this has gone on so long."

In Vancouver, Eric Harris, chief negotiator for the breweries, said he is not optimistic about today's meeting. "We'll just have to wait and see," he said.

Today's meeting came after union pickets in Victoria stepped up activity Saturday at the Labatts brewery to protest the import of U.S. beer by the provincial government.

Ray Wainwright, president of Local 280 of the Canadian Brewery Workers, said the government was contributing to the imbalance of trade between Canada and the United States by importing U.S. beer.

"Here we are trying to save Canadian dollars and on the other hand, Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Rafe Mair is spending thousands of Canadian dollars on importing American beer."

Wainwright also charged the government with breaking both federal and provincial laws by importing beer.

PM FLOGS ECONOMY

Meanwhile, the prime minister's office has reportedly been given two weeks to make a decision on whether or not Trudeau should call a fall election.

The economic recovery push is timed to coincide with the election countdown, prime ministerial aides say.

The election decision will be made just before or just after Labor Day, Sept. 4. The exact timing will determine whether the country votes Oct. 30, Nov. 6, Nov. 13 — or next year.

In a telexed message to the premiers released today, Trudeau says Ottawa "will undertake to fully discuss with you before deciding to make changes to federal-provincial contractual or legislative arrangements presently in effect."

But given the share that payments to provinces represent in the federal budget, "it is to be expected that some provincial programs may be affected by a reduction or re-ordering of federal expenditures," the prime minister says.

Trudeau said in a televised address Aug. 1 that he would reduce the federal budget by at least $2 billion.

Last week, Robert Andras, treasury board president, announced cuts in current and planned spending of $1.5 billion, and promised at least $1 billion more in the next two weeks.

Riled Aussies Storm Stock Exchange

Times News Services

SYDNEY — Stockbrokers piled up furniture at the entrance to the Sydney Stock Exchange today to block an invasion by demonstrators chanting "make the rich pay!" in protest against a proposed severe new federal budget.

The protesters, who contend the new budget will assure higher taxes, pushed past police and smashed plate glass panels in the doors of the trading floor but stockbrokers quickly piled tables and chairs at the doors, making an temporary but effective barricade.

Police said 139 demonstrators were arrested here and in the city of Brisbane, where labor protests against the budget also turned violent.

The budget completes Fraser's declared plan to dismantle the social welfare structure built during the Labor government of the former prime minister, the late Gough Whitlam. It raises income taxes and boosts prices on cigarettes, whisky, gasoline, imported cars, clothing and shoes.

Trading at the stock exchange was delayed for more than 10 minutes while police cleared protesters but outside police clashed with demonstrators.

Earlier, about 5,000 demonstrators carrying anti-budget posters and chanting "Fraser out!" marched along one of the city's main thoroughfares to city hall where they were addressed by Federal Opposition Labor Party Leader Bill Hayden and State Labor Government Leader Nevilla Wran.

Wran told the crowd the budget was "abominable".

Hayden, said people were angry over the budget. "The reaction of the community is one of seething anger and resentment," he said.

Fraser, however, said Sunday the budget had been better received than his two previous budgets, but he has been loudly booed at every public appearance since it was presented and nearly was hit by a paint bomb and raw eggs in Melbourne last Friday.

Transit Drivers Obey Order

Bus drivers at Vancouver's main transit depot were back on the job Sunday after obeying a second B.C. Labor Relations Board order to return to work.

The board issued a formal back-to-work order Saturday after bus service here and to some surrounding municipalities was halted by the walkout by B.C. Hydro drivers.

Bus service in the Victoria area was not affected.

The strike by the drivers, members of the Amalgamated Transit Union, began Friday in a dispute over operation of a of assigning drivers to specific routes. The drivers defied a board order Friday to return to work.

The issue was to have gone to arbitration in two weeks but Ed Peck, vice-chairman of the labor board, said meetings now have been scheduled for today in an attempt to iron out procedural problems.

Union spokesman Al Ashton said Sunday that no job action is planned pending resolution of the issue. Drivers claim the company is ignoring seniority.

A dispute over the same issue sparked a week-long strike last spring.

Meanwhile, Metropolitan Toronto transit workers on Sunday rejected the latest contract offer from the Toronto Transit Commission and began a strike vote that could see public transportation in the city halted by Wednesday.

Charles Johnson, president of the Amalgamated Transit Union, Division 113, said in an interview that it took 900 members about five minutes Sunday to accept the union executive's recommendation to turn down the offer.

He said it was possible the strike would be called during the Canadian National Exhibition, which began last week and continues until Sept. 4.

Johnson said the wage and cost-of-living increases offered by the transit commission were insufficient protection against rising inflation.

Firefighter Pact Hearing To Wind Up

Final submissions by both sides will be made at a wind-up hearing Wednesday into the contract dispute between Victoria firefighters and the city.

Argument will be delivered to an industrial inquiry commission by Dermod Owen-Flood for the union and by Jack Giles on behalf of the city.

ISRAELIS AVENGE ATTACK

Four men opened fire as the bus carrying 21 El Al personnel pulled up outside the Europa Hotel where the airline's crews stay during London stopovers.

Meanwhile, in Jerusalem, government sources said Prime Minister Menachem Begin will offer to withdraw Israeli troops to a new line in the occupied Sinai Desert in exchange for a partial peace settlement with Egypt.

The sources said the line would extend from El Arish in the northeast corner of Sinai to Ras Muhammed, at the tip of the cone-shaped peninsula.

Search Goes On

The pilot, Bill Bryson, about 50, from Sechelt, and his 14-year-old son Brian were on a flight from Qualicum to Campbell River.

Hollered, Collared

In Hollywood it would have called for a high speed boat chase, but in Sidney the RCMP officer simply walked to the end of the dock and shouted at the two men to bring the rowboat back.

They did, and police charged two 20-year old men with theft over $50.

The rental rowboat from Smitty's Marina is valued at about $1,500.

RCMP said a concerned citizen called about 1 a.m. Sunday to notify police about unusual wharf-side activity.

"Our guy arrived just as they were rowing away," said an RCMP spokesman.

were among the suspects, and the owner also was arrested for "negligence," because to save money he did not heed police instructions to hire more attendants and guards.

The silent exception was Ayatullah Khomaini, an exile in Iraq since 1963. He fled the country after campaigning against the shah's land-reform program because it provided for the sale or lease to the peasants of the vast landholdings of the mosques. Since then his supporters have carried on an anti-shah campaign which in the last eight months has become increasingly violent and in which about 100 persons have been killed.

Police said the doors to the crowded theatre had been locked as a protection against terrorists, and most of those inside were trapped. A survivor said many of the victims were trampled to death.

The fire broke out "on all sides of the hall," said 20-year-old Gholam-Hussein Nemayandeh.

"People cried and jumped over each other as they attempted in vain to escape," said Nemayandeh, who escaped with 20 to 40 other persons through a roof exit.

Gen. Razmi said because of the fire and smoke, the firemen for some time could not get within 100 metres of the building or locate the entrance. Finally, they were able to knock out a wall "but only to pull out the carbonized bodies."

Empress Farah ordered the provincial governor to meet with families of the dead and determine their urgent needs so charitable organizations she heads can help them. But Premier Jamshid Amuzegar said the tragedy will not deter the shah's reform program.

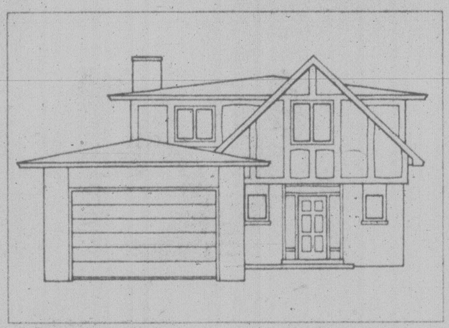
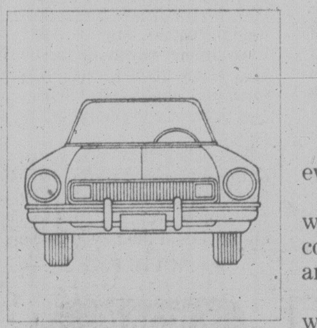
THE SECOND BIGGEST PURCHASE YOU MAY EVER MAKE SHOULDN'T BE SECOND BEST.



This is the biggest purchase most people make.



This is the second biggest.

The two biggest purchases most people ever make in life are a house and a car.

Most people are fairly diligent and careful when choosing a house. They look around, compare several houses, evaluate their needs and then make a decision.

Unfortunately, this is not always the case with new car buyers. Often it is a spur-of-the-moment, emotional decision with all too little thought given. And no comparisons made. A Honda Civic invites comparison. Compare a Civic's drive train. It is front wheel drive with the motor mounted transversely over the wheels. The front wheel drive not only improves traction during Canadian winters, but it also makes the car more fun to drive.

Compare a Civic's suspension. You'll find that while many cars come with a solid rear axle, a Civic comes with independent McPherson strut suspension on all four wheels. This suspension is relatively expensive and rare on an inexpensive car. But it's worth every penny for its cushioning ride and road holding qualities.

Compare Civic's interior room. While it may look like a tidy little package on the outside you'll find that inside there is much more room than you expect.

The reason is the trapezoidal shape that Honda first successfully introduced to Canada. It maximizes the interior space while minimizing the exterior space. Combine the trapezoidal shape with a wide track and a low centre of gravity and you'll find a Civic is also extremely stable on the highway. Check Civic's list of standard features. Self adjusting, power assisted front disc brakes, rack and pinion steering, 4-speed transmission, carpeting, tinted glass, rear window defroster and fully reclining bucket seats are all included.

Then check and compare the quality and finish of the car. Look at the seams and panels to see how well they are fitted and joined. Check the moulding that is used to prevent drips and drafts. See how the carpeting is fitted. Check the detailing of the dash. The closer you inspect a Civic the closer you are to becoming a Civic owner.

And above all, do something that you can't do when you're buying a house–try it out. Take it for a test drive. You'll soon see why in just four short years Honda Civic has become the best selling small car* in Canada.

Temple Hindus Hack Moslems To Death

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — About 10 Indian Hindus hacked four young Malay Moslems to death and wounded another one seriously when they caught the Moslems breaking statues in a Hindu temple at Kerling, 56 kilometres north of Kuala Lumpur.

The sources said the the Hindus had been guarding the temple following attacks on more than 20 Hindu temples in the Malaysian peninsula in the last eight months. There have been no previous fatalities, however.

About half the 12.2 million people of Malaysia are Malay Moslems, while Indian Hindus total between 600,000 and 700,000.

Korchnoi's Complaint. . .

BAGUIO (UPI) — It wasn't Viktor Korchnoi's day. First he lost two games to world chess champion Anatoly Karpov and then an earthquake got him out of bed.

The 47-year-old was roused from his sleep when an earthquake with an intensity of five on the Rossi Forel Scale of nine jolted this mountain resort shortly before dawn today.

This was a reference to Korchnoi's defeats Sunday in two games, which previously had been adjourned.

The losses gave the Soviet titlist a 3-1 lead in the title match. Six wins are needed to clinch the crown American chess genius Bobby Fischer gave up in 1975 and the $350,000 top prize.

Korchnoi said with a laugh after the earthquake "I was surprised. It's the first time I ever experienced an earthquake."

Earlier, aides said the 47-year-old challenger hardly showed the sting of his crushing defeat at a dinner party given by friends.

"We'll start a new match," senior aide Petra Leeuwerik quoted Korchnoi as saying at a dinner party where he listened to music from a Greek band.

She said Korchnoi admitted the adjourned 14th game was lost but in the 13th game a blunder on the 56th move cost him the game experts conceded he could easily have won.

Korchnoi resigned the 13th game on the 62nd move under intense time pressure. He spent 40 minutes pondering his 41st move at adjournment Thursday and had to make 15 moves in 20 minutes when the game was continued.

He resigned six moves later to avoid the embarrassment of falling into a mating trap.

QUEBEC GROUNDS BUSES

QUEBEC (CP) — The six remaining buses of Autobus Bolduc, the company whose bus was involved in a crash in which 40 died at Eastman, Que., were ordered off the road Aug. 12, a Quebec transport department official said.

The buses were ordered withdrawn from service after an inspection by the department, Mrs. Suzanne Emond, a spokesman for the vehicle inspection service, said.

Mrs. Emond said Friday company owner Gilles Bolduc was given 48 hours to repair a variety of mechanical problems on his fleet on Aug. 10 but he did not meet the deadline.

Quebec City coroner J. Armand Drouin is currently investigating the Eastman crash, the worst bus disaster in Canada.

Rhodesia All-Party Talks Grow Dim

SALISBURY (Reuter) — Prospects for an all-party conference on the independence of Rhodesia appear to have dimmed after the main protagonists set opposing conditions for attending any talks.

Prime Minister Ian Smith, in a broadcast Sunday, said the future of the security forces is a major factor in deciding whether his interim government will attend.

Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, co-leaders of the Patriotic Front—which controls the guerrilla force—called in Lusaka, Zambia, for dismantling of the Rhodesian security forces which have been fighting their guerrillas.

Smith told his country: "It would be dangerous for us even to attend a conference with people who are going to put forward that kind of demand."

British and U.S. diplomats have spent several months trying to draw together the Patriotic Front and Smith and his three black nationalist allies who form the interim government.

In Lusaka, Nkomo told Reuters news agency: "Our position is that we are prepared to fuse acceptable elements of the armed forces into our army."

He said this has been agreed with British and U.S. negotiators.

However, his colleague, Mugabe, appeared to take a more extreme line, telling a news conference: "We are for the complete overthrow of the regime and the replacement of its forces by our forces."

The wide gap between the two sides appeared to political observers to invalidate the optimism expressed earlier in the day by British Foreign Secretary David Owen when he said in London he believed a settlement was close and he expected all-party talks to take place soon.

The observers said the only real hope of talks appeared to rest on the possibility of a split between Nkomo and Mugabe, with the former joining discussions and the latter being left out.

But with guerrillas gaining increasing successes on the battlefront, the observers say the likelihood of this is lessening.

Agatha Christie's Husband Dies at 74

LONDON (AP) — Sir Max Mallowan, one of Britain's great archeologists and former husband of the late thriller writer Dame Agatha Christie, died Saturday at his Oxfordshire home, his London publishers announced today. He was 74.

The Collins publishing house, which issued Sir Max's memoirs last year, did not immediately disclose the cause of death.

Sir Max married Agatha Christie in 1930 after they met while he was excavating an ancient site in the Middle East.

Dame Agatha subsequently spent much of her time accompanying her husband to dusty excavation sites, living in Arab houses and helping out on the digs.

Good News, Beer News

Preliminary figures indicate that the Associated Canadian Travellers' beer garden held earlier this month near the Inner Harbor was a huge success financially, even if not aesthetically. Despite problems caused by the beer strike, the ACT raised about $16,000 for charity from the beer garden's six-day run.

For city council, that is turning it into a good-news, bad-news situation. It's obviously good news when a local service club raises $16,000 to help the less fortunate in our community and to fund projects with such admirable goals as better health and safety practices.

But the bad news is that council is likely now going to have to make some very difficult choices about the future of these events. It is quite clear from the ACT experience that for council to give a group permission to hold a beer garden is equivalent to giving it a licence to print money. If the hastily put together, strike-ridden ACT garden raised $16,000, it's probable that a better-planned event, held in a year with no strike problems, could easily make $4,000 or $5,000 a day profit.

That being the case, it is not to be expected that ACT will be alone next year in making application to hold such a fund-raiser. Indeed every keen service club in town may well put its name down to try to win council's approval for the idea.

And what is council to do then? To give one group, the ACT or any other, a monopoly on the beer garden concept would seem grossly unfair to the many other service clubs and charities in town that could perform equally valuable services with the money they might raise. Yet if council were to allow each application — even each application that met detailed guidelines — we might well end up with half a dozen beer gardens running in various downtown corners every summer night, not perhaps precisely what the city was planning for.

Council this week will have to deal with a recommendation from its finance committee that the ACT be given approval in principle to hold its beer garden again next year. For council to go along with this recommendation now would be an overly hasty act since it would amount to a commitment to ACT before these other problems have been given proper consideration.

Perhaps it would be better for council to approve the principle of holding one or more beer gardens next year, but not to specify any particular group. It could then spend the next two or three months developing detailed guidelines for groups interested in applying. The guidelines might cover such topics as the type of groups that could apply (restricting it to charitable and service groups), beer garden design, control mechanisms, entertainment, and the sort of projects to which the profits would go.

Later in the fall, after the guidelines were completed, council could put out a proposal call to interested groups, similar to calls put out for development of Crown land. City hall staff and council members would then evaluate the proposals that came in and award the licence to the best applicants.

This system would be fair to all charitable groups in town. At the same time, the competition inherent in it would surely promote a high standard of beer garden that would be a credit to Victoria.

Will Victory Be Pyrrhic?

Credit should go to Labor Minister Allan Williams for his decision to intervene in the attempts of the Hospital Labor Relations Association (HLRA) to have overturned a binding arbitration award imposed in a contracts dispute between itself and the Hospital Employees Union.

Legally, the association undoubtedly has the right to take matters to court if it believes it has been unfairly dealt with, but politically and from a labor relations viewpoint, the idea is a disaster.

The question of how to handle disputes in essential services such as hospitals is one of the most sensitive in the entire labor relations field and has caused much difficulty in B.C. in recent years. Last year the government put together the Essential Services Disputes Act to try to devise ways that these disputes might be handled without resorting to unacceptable strikes or lockouts. The hospital dispute was the first test of this legislation.

It hadn't worked brilliantly, but it had worked tolerably well, and it seemed fair that the hospital contract would be settled by binding arbitration with no work stoppage involved.

Against this background, HLRA's decision to try to overturn the arbitration award must appear to the union — and even to the government itself — as little short of a betrayal. It is tantamount to a declaration that the employers' association will go along with the carefully worked out procedures only so long as they like the answer at the end.

Even if HLRA wins the court battle and upsets the award, it may prove to be a Pyrrhic victory. Its gain would be in a better settlement from its viewpoint, but its much-larger loss would be in public credibility, in government acceptance, and in trust and goodwill from its thousands of employees.

Where Tax Cuts Will Come

By JOHN GREEN

(Mr. Green is executive assistant to Conservative leader Vic Stephens.)

Before dismissing as "Absurd Promises" (Times, Aug. 5) Vic Stephens' pledge to eliminate the sales tax and the property tax for schools if elected to form a provincial government, might it not have been reasonable for you or one of your staff to have discussed with him just why he was making such a commitment and how he intended to carry it out? You should have learned that his position, whether you would agree with it or not, is considerably different from what you have pictured in your editorial.

What the Conservative party will do at the next election is to offer the voters of British Columbia a real choice. If they are happy with the present degree of government involvement in their lives and with present levels of taxation they can vote for either of the two parties that have created the current situation. If, on the other hand, they want the size of government cut back, they can give a Conservative government the mandate for the strong action necessary to accomplish that admittedly-difficult task.

The financial obstacles are not as great as you suggest. To begin with, you are mistaken about the sales tax — $600 million is the correct figure. Ottawa has not given Victoria the money to make the two per cent reduction this year; on the contrary the replacement revenue has been obtained by increasing the provincial income tax by an equivalent amount — a completely empty gesture since it was not accompanied by any decrease in federal spending, only by an increase in the federal deficit for which the taxpayers of B.C. continue to share responsibility.

Nevertheless, there is still as much as $1.2 billion to be accounted for. Of that sum approximately $170 million now goes for homeowners' grants intended to alleviate the burden of the property tax for schools. With that tax eliminated such grants will be unnecessary except for people for whom the municipal property tax alone is too great a burden.

As to saving on the cost of government operations, anyone who has experienced a sudden reduction in income, either personally or in business, will realize that there are always considerable savings that can be made when they must. In the case of the government spending over $4 billion today when it spent under $2 billion five years ago, it is surely not unreasonable to expect that costs could be cut by 10 per cent.

Admittedly there are shared-cost programs and essential services that cannot be reduced, and there are no grounds for suggestions that health care, for instance, would be cut back. But there are also government activities that can be eliminated entirely, and as a matter of principle a Conservative government would not spend the taxpayers' money on any program that did not provide a clear net benefit either socially or financially.

One glaring example is the attempt to improve the quality of education by reducing the pupil/teacher ratio. A Conservative government would not continue to spend over $100 million a year on that failed experiment. Neither would it spend millions of dollars on such things as free jet aircraft for junketing cabinet ministers, fatuous "super smile" type campaigns, or royal commissions to divert attention from decisions already made.

You will be aware that accurate evaluation of many of the activities of government is not possible from the limited information available to members of the opposition, but surely you would not question that a party with a genuine commitment to reducing the functions of government, and a mandate from the voters to do just that, could cut expenditures by one tenth, or about $430 million. We estimate also that there is overtaxation in the present budget, for the purpose of showing a surplus, of at least $100 million. Indicated surplus for the past year is almost double that.

Deducting the amounts mentioned from the original $1.2 billion still leaves a shortfall of about $500 million, but you will realize that some of that money will be recouped automatically, since both property and sales taxes paid by businesses are deductible from taxable income. Far more important, the removal of those taxes will reduce the true cost of goods and services in British Columbia, relieving inflationary pressures and opening added markets for B.C. products at home and abroad as well as encouraging both tourists and residents to spend their money here rather than elsewhere. It will result in real economic growth, opening productive jobs for the unemployed and for those who would otherwise have swelled the ranks of the civil service, and increasing both personal and corporate income tax revenues while at the same time reducing welfare costs.

We are convinced that the dramatic and clear-cut action of removing two heavy tax burdens simultaneously will stimulate quick and substantial economic progress, but if growth is not rapid enough to produce adequate revenues immediately we would accept deficits for a year or two. Should additional revenue prove to be necessary we would raise it through increasing income taxes, which fall only on individuals and businesses that have made money enough to afford them, rather than by returning to taxes that take no account of ability to pay.

You may well disagree with this program, and so may some of the voters, but surely there is nothing irresponsible or absurd about offering them the choice.

Drapeau Is Back - Again

MONTREAL — Any day now, Jean Drapeau will announce his candidacy for yet another term as mayor of Montreal.

It has been an open secret for months that he would run in the Nov. 12 election. The man they call the last of North America's big city bosses has presided over the city's fortunes for more than 20 years, telling interviewers "the city is my life."

Mayor Drapeau is said to be raring to go for another election fight, confident that his popularity is on the upswing again.

In the 1974 municipal election, he and his Civic Party got a bad scare from the upstart Montreal Citizens Movement which won 18 of 55 seats. The MCM mayoral candidate got almost 40 per cent of the vote.

Bad Scare in '74

Then the delays and scandals in the construction of Olympic Games facilities further tarnished Drapeau's image. His prophetic words that the Olympic Games "could no more have a deficit than a man could have a baby" came back to haunt him.

Montreal has been saddled with $215 million worth of the Olympic debt by the Quebec government, and city taxpayers receive bills marked "special Olympic property tax" just to remind them of Drapeau's follies.

Since last winter, the mayor has been making frequent public appearances in an effort to improve his image. At a series of Sunday meetings in various wards he has been shaking hands and electioneering in low key style.

He is determined not to repeat the mistakes of 1974, when he and his party did virtually no campaigning before the election.

Drapeau is confident of his election chances for a number of reasons. First, the Montreal Citizens Movement has all but disintegrated as a political force after a promising start.

The MCM has been taken over by extreme leftists whose only answer to local housing problems is to preach the overthrow of capitalism. Many of the moderate MCM members have left to form their own party called the Municipal Action Group.

Not only is the opposition now split, but Drapeau is also confident that Montrealers have forgiven his Olympic sins. There is no proof that his administration engaged in corrupt practices, although the degree of incompetence with which the city managed the games' construction was staggering.

The games turned out to be a success, Drapeau reminds people, and generated a lot of other economic activity in Montreal. He also believes the Quebec government's decision to build a roof over the Olympic stadium next year is a vindication of his administration.

Although his opposition is split, many observers believe the new Municipal Action Group could become a credible and effective party. The MAG is likely to nominate Liberal MP Serge Joyal as its mayoralty candidate at a convention in mid-September. Joyal, the maverick MP for Maisonneuve riding who has been a persistent critic of Prime Minister Trudeau, is popular throughout Quebec.

"He could be a people-style mayor, along the lines of a David Crombie [in Toronto]," says MAG cofounder Nick Auf der Maur.

Auf der Maur says the MAG will campaign on taxation issues and "the lack of democracy" in Mayor Drapeau's administration. "We have the highest property taxes in the country," he says "and that's the most common complaint I hear from people."

Montreal is beset with the problems that face many large cities in the United States: a shrinking tax base and increasing costs. In the last 10 years, there has been a net population loss of 200,000 people from the city as Montrealers fled to the suburbs. Thousands of other people have moved from Montreal to cities outside Quebec because of the political climate and economic activity has slowed down.

The value of construction permits issued by the city of Montreal over the past year is only 50 per cent of the average in the preceding five years. Head offices are moving out of Montreal and the city is pricing itself out of the important tourist industry.

Critics of Drapeau say the mayor has done nothing to attract commercial and industrial activity to Montreal. His flair for the magnificent brought Montreal an arts centre, a subway system, a world's fair and the Olympic Games but all these projects produced only booms and slumps in the economy.

Joyal has said he wants to create a municipal department of industry and commerce, rather than rely on the federal and provincial governments to develop Montreal. "The city needs services to advise companies on manpower and to help them locate in Montreal.

"Montreal is in danger of becoming an empty shell on the economic level because development has been ignored."

Truce with PQ

While the city is not yet in the financial shape of New York, it has very little maneuvering margin in its budget. About one-fifth of the budget goes for debt servicing. The MAG will campaign for the reduction of the size of the municipal bureaucracy to save tax dollars.

There are a lot of people in the Parti Quebecois who would like to see Drapeau defeated, but members of the Quebec government are being careful not to antagonize the mayor. There has been bad blood between Drapeau and the PQ ever since the government was elected in 1976. The mayor suffered his biggest political humiliation when the government imposed the special Olympic property tax on Montreal and amended the city's charter to reduce its power.

But a truce was reached after the government realized that Drapeau is still a popular man in Montreal and that he is too powerful to have as an adversary.

Cheers!

There is much ado about Canada's Commonwealth Games victory in the English media — much of it on a note of sour grapes. Coming from a nation whose star has waned in most respects, England's sad commentary on Canada's achievements or the supposed manner in which these were achieved takes nothing away from our victory. Anyone who watched our young competitors in action could not fail to note their healthy collective Canadian spirit and the determination to do well.

True, Canadian athletes are receiving at long last some well-deserved support at all government levels, as the whole nation is encouraged to get fit through Participaction. The large number of joggers and Canadians from all walks of life engaging in fitness activities in recent years attests to the success of government involvement.

To roundly criticize Canadians for their way of living is not only uncalled for by outsiders who were well treated as guests, but highlights a rather uncharacteristic British trait of ungracious losers. Cheers for our Canadian athletes and onwards to greater achievements! — G. Boucher, 925 Snowdrop Avenue.

Details, Vic?

As a resident of Oak Bay and a tax payer, I read your coverage of a recent press conference by Vic Stephens with a great deal of cynicism. Mr. Stephens has received wide coverage for his position to eliminate the five per cent sales tax at a cost of approximately $600 million and remove school taxes from property owners. While I fully endorse these ideas, it's about time the taxpayers in this province were given a detailed explanation of how Mr. Stephens proposes to achieve them.

We expect more from our elected member of the legislature assembly than a simplistic statement that the $600 million loss in revenue from the elimination of the sales tax will be offset by greater government efficiency. With all due respect, this response is totally inadequate and reeks of the usual empty political rhetoric designed to camouflage the realities of life and solicit a vote.

The question remains — how and where can Mr. Stephens improve government efficiency by $600 million? By implementing large reductions in the number of public servants on the provincial payroll in Victoria and Oak Bay; or, by cutting back on government services and programs?

His proposal to remove school taxes from property owners and fund it out of general revenues is most admirable. However, where will the additional revenues come from: a further increase in the cost of services to the public or increased provincial income taxes? If he thinks the cost of education is high what does he think ignorance will eventually cost.

Mr. Stephens, we all agree that tax reductions are long overdue. However, we want to know the details of your proposed policies and suggest that you do your homework before making public promises which you can't keep. — J. R. Kelly, 1832 Carnarvon Street.

Fooey to Naysayers

I see the negative element have cranked up their pens to attack Grace McCarthy again. This time it is the smile campaign which has caught their limited vision.

I think that anyone other than a complete fool will admit that the tourist industry is of vital importance to the economy of Canada, British Columbia, and Victoria. It is the largest employer in Canada. What some people may not realize is that it also is a highly competitive field. Not only is B.C. up against every other province but every state in the U.S., as well as their federal government, to say nothing of other countries all trying to entice tourists to visit their areas.

Once you attract the tourist to your area, how do you keep them for a while and encourage them to return? By being friendly and assisting in every way to see that their visit is enjoyable. Surely most people realize the smile campaign is to a very considerable extent aimed at your own people to encourage us to take a positive and friendly attitude towards our visitors.

Many of your readers may be surprised to learn that the Canadian government office of tourism found through studies in the U.S. that Canadians were perceived to be unfriendly and anti-American. We all know that it isn't so, all we have to do is get the message across. So smile and think of all the people who are earning a living because of tourism. — Don Wray, 229 Gorge Road East.

Pauling Pushes His 'C' Campaign

WILLIAM SCOBIE

SAN FRANCISCO—Since 1970, Dr. Linus Pauling of California's Stanford University has been championing the virtues of vitamins, particularly vitamin C, as a treatment for diseases ranging from cancer to the common cold. The 77-year-old chemist, twice a Nobel prize winner, has also been campaigning, for much of that time, for controlled, clinical studies to evaluate his claims. now he is to get his way.

Tests funded by the National Cancer Institute have begun at the Mayo Clinic, where 150 terminal cancer patients will serve as guinea-pigs, downing massive doses of C — otherwise known as ascorbic acid. The NCI says it's far too early even to mention the experiment — "the last thing we want is a stampede of cancer patients offering themselves for tests."

Pauling, one of the legendary figures of 20th century science, is still regarded as an interloper, and a slightly nutty one at that, by experts in the field of nutrition. "If you polled the U.S. scientific community," says Dr. George Briggs, a University of California biochemist and nutritionist, "I doubt that Dr. Pauling's vitamin theories would pick up more than three per cent of the vote."

PAULING

Believers

Yet millions of Americans are firm believers in mega-vitamin therapy. They are convinced that vitamins can both cure and prevent diseases. "The evidence is growing," says Pauling, a tall, silver-haired figure, "that vitamin C offers protection against all infectious ailments." He mentions measles, mumps, influenza, hepatitis, polio . . . and cancer.

Pauling admits that he doesn't know how vitamin C fights cancer. Maybe it stimulates the body's immune mechanisms. Maybe it strengthens the intercellular structure sufficiently to resist a tumor's advance. Maybe it does both. Pauling suggested this in a 1971 speech at the University of Chicago, which caught the eye of Dr. Ewan Cameron, chief surgeon of a Scottish hospital, whose studies had led him to similar thinking.

Cameron and Pauling made contact, became friends, and before long the Scot was appointed a "non-resident" fellow of the Linus Pauling Institute of Science and Medicine in Menlo Park, California. It is on Cameron's clinical trials of vitamin C in recent years that Pauling's case largely rests.

Their joint project concentrated on two groups of cancer patients, all pronounced "terminal", all subjected to standard medical procedures such as chemotherapy, radiation and the knife. Group One (100 patients) received ten grams of C per day. Group Two (1,000 patients) — people of roughly the same age, sex and cancer type — received only pain-killing drugs.

lf6. Pauling and Ewan claim that the "C" patients survived on the average for 200 days or more; group two subjects lived for an average of 50 days. Thirteen "C" patients are alive today — five years after being declared terminal; all 1,000 victims in group two are dead.

Donations

The Pauling Institute is kept alive by tens of thousands of individual donations, small and large. The controversy caused by his 1970 book Vitamin C and the Common Cold made Stanford University reluctant to go on financing his work on orthomolecular medicine, and Pauling — with the aid of a top-flight Wall Street public relations expert who is also a Pauling admirer and health buff — began raising money through ads in the press.

A kind of Pauling fan club was created, with donors receiving the great man's speeches, copies of his institute's scientific articles, and a newsletter. This year the institute moved into the black, thanks to nearly 30,000 donors, large and small, who supply more than half of its $1 million a year budget.

At the same time, such scientific studies as have been conducted seem, on the whole, to support his ideas. A University of Toronto project which placed one group of people on "C", another on a placebo, showed the "C" subjects staying illness-free for significantly long periods.

Cleansing

A Czech study, reported in Science News, indicated that vitamin C fought cholesterol by cleansing arteries of deposits. An American research team released a report suggesting that megadoses of "C" increased the number and strength of lymphocytes, which work within the body's immune system to destroy bacteria and viruses.

But at a recent University of California seminar in San Francisco, Dr. Sheldon Margen, a top consultant to the U.S. Senate's Committee on Nutrition, remained skeptical. He also mentioned side effects of vitamin C, such as diarrhoea, and warned against overdosing. The range between need and surplus was small, and "C" was still an unknown quantity. "It took us 50 years," said Margen, "to learn that aspirin, once considered non-toxic, causes bleeding in the gastro-intestinal tract."

Pauling responds that he has never called "C" a wonder drug, and considers it less toxic than white sugar. He says he is willing to bet that those of us who take an "optimum amount" will suffer at least 50 per cent less illness than people who do not. Properly administered, vitamins might raise life expectancy by several years.

And what is an optimum amount? Well, Pauling himself downs 10 one-gram tablets a day. He ups the dosage to 15 or more if he thinks he may be getting a cold. The breast pocket of his suit always contains a supply.

Ten grams (or 10,000 milligrams) sounds faintly alarming when one considers that the National Academy of Sciences says we need no more than 60 milligrams in our daily diet. But Americans — whether as an act of faith or in mistrust of the U.S. food supply — are following the Pauling creed in ever-increasing numbers. Last year, according to the Food and Drug Administration, they swallowed more than $700 million worth of self-prescribed vitamins.

Deformed Baby Not Really Human

The death of an infant is a matter of emotion. When the elderly die, the world attends to them. When a baby dies, the world weeps. Death in the elderly is an end to the experience of life, but death in a baby is the end to the promise of life. There is little room for objectivity.

> 'If ever abortion indicated, It would be in this case'

The death of the deformed baby in a Richmond hospital has become a platform for the causists. It has been suggested the doctor who "allowed" the infant to die could face a first degree murder charge. Pro-Life exponents say all scientific measures should have been taken to maintain the infant's life. Doctors say they have no criteria on which to make the judgment as to whether a grossly-deformed baby's life systems should be maintained.

In several significant areas, the entire story has been improperly reported and the inference is that a doctor wilfully deprived a deformed baby of life by withholding nourishment from it. I believe the details of the case, while grimly unpleasant, prove sharply otherwise. It is left for you to make your own judgment.

My facts were supplied by a prominent local pediatric surgeon. His job is to correct deformities in the newborn. He has asked that his name not be used. He was not directly involved with the case in Richmond, but he is familiar with the conditions.

"The condition this child was born with is called anencephaly. The child is born with no head and no brain. On the evolutionary scale, the child would be the equivalent of an earthworm and slightly below a fish. The fact that there is no head is not the significant factor; what is significant is the absence of a brain. Without it, there is no chance of long-term survival. There was a brain-stem present but it contained only vegetative centres to maintain breathing and heartbeat on a tenuous basis.

"The incidence of this condition is about 18 per 100,000 live births. Of those 18, 17 are dead before term, either through miscarriage or being stillborn. In a population area the size of British Columbia, one such child might survive birth every two years.

"We can usually detect the condition before birth because the child is unable to swallow the amniotic fluid. Because of the absence of a head, the coordination of swallowing is not possible. This creates a polyhydramnios condition within the mother, an excess of fluid. When we see that, we do a B-scan, a sound examination, and that will reveal the lack of a head in the fetus. When that is known, you do not take any heroic measures such as caesarean birth because you can't expect to get a live baby. If ever abortion was indicated, it would be in this case.

"If the child does survive birth, the cosmetic deformity, the lack of a head, the deformity of the limbs, is a relatively small thing because the child can never live in the long run. It really is not a human being because it does not have human attributes, though that may be regarded as judgmental. But the fact remains, a child born with this condition has the functions of an earthworm.

"Now, the statement has been made that the child was not fed and that that caused death. That is an unfair statement. The fact is that the usual cause of death in infants in this condition is aspiration. The infant does not have the swallowing function and will aspirate from its own mucus or from nourishment that will be taken into the lungs. The very fact that this child in Richmond lived for 17 days was probably because it was not fed. Anything fed to it would have been drawn into the lungs and would have caused immediate death.

"In this particular case, the treatment was probably satisfactory. The raising of an issue on it is wrong. The condition of the child's limbs was inconsequential; many Thalidomide babies have survived without limbs. The cosmetic thing was a red herring. And the references to the lack of feeding was an unfair accusation.

"The condition of this child was so extreme that no reasonable person would suggest that parental concerns be increased or that enormous energies be expended in maintaining its life."

That is the informed interpretation of a child specialist in the issue of the Richmond baby, an issue that has aroused, seemingly, every emotion but clinical understanding.

Perhaps one could sum up at this point. What was born in that Richmond hospital can only be called a child for the purposes of semantics: A torso with no head, no brain and deformed limbs. That it was born living is a medical rarity; that it lived as long as it did was an unfortunate miracle. The prognosis for prolonged life was non-existant.

The withholding of nourishment, while causing death, was responsible for what life span there was. Life could have been terminated at any time by feeding the child.

Under any circumstances, death was a mercy.

"Shells" — A small resort town on the Chesapeake Bay is menaced by a giant oyster lurking in an off-shore mud bank. Driven by a primitive urge to create giant pearls, the huge bivalve lures careless swimmers into its cavernous interior, then slams its shells shut with a bone-chilling clang and ejects its victims later in the form of pearls three feet in diameter. Town leaders, seeing an opportunity to get rich quick, encourage public swimming on the oyster's mud bank until the oyster, sensing that it is being exploited for commercial gain, comes ashore on a high tide to swallow the entire town. Unable to get off the beach, it is surrounded by tourists and eaten on the half shell with ketchup and horseradish sauce.

* * *

"The Towering Bore" — Trapped by a power failure in a penthouse 200 stories above the ground, 12 people of varying backgrounds find themselves in the hands of a host intent upon explaining the good side of the Carter administration. Their efforts to leap down the elevator shafts to mercy are defeated by their host's padlocks on the elevator doors. When he threatens to do his imitation of Sammy Davis Jr. and to follow this by showing home movies, the Air Force comes to the rescue by strafing the penthouse, but to no avail. The host declares that nothing can stop him but the delivery of Shelley Winters, for whom he harbors an intense passion. In the climactic scene, Charlton Heston attempts to deliver the famous actress by winching her down from an inverted helicopter.

* * *

"Nasty Pasta" — The population of a large Eastern city is suddenly attacked by murderous spaghetti. Having been accidentally subjected to nuclear radiation, the spaghetti has the power to leap off the fork and strangle diners as they lift it to their mouths. After completing its dirty work in thousands of restaurants and homes, the spaghetti slithers into the streets, forms a farinaceous mass 20 stories high and goes on a rampage. The spaghetti is advancing on Washington to enforce its demands for the delivery of Ann Margret, for whom it harbors an intense passion, when Henry Fonda discovers that its power can be destroyed by spraying it with grated Parmesan cheese.

* * *

"Ice 2" — This sequel to last year's highly-successful "Ice" is based on the assumption that the vicious iceberg destroyed by Charlton Heston as it approached the George Washington Bridge has a vindictive mother who now wants revenge. Fans of the original "Ice" will be disappointed if they expect anything as exciting as the original's destruction of New Haven by glacial avalanche. Scenes in which mutinous ice-cubes flee Olivia DeHaviland's refrigerator to join forces with the approaching ice field, however, will make many movie-goers think twice before popping another ice-cube into their scotch.

* * *

"Aerosol" — Shelley Winters picks up her aerosol hair spray, touches the nozzle and is instantly sucked into the can. Yes, aerosol gases all over the country have begun to exert their force in reverse. In less than 24 hours millions of Americans have been sucked into aerosol cans and the suction is getting stronger by the hour. When Charlton Heston touches the nozzle of his aerosol deodorant, it sucks in not only Heston, but 12 people of varying backgrounds off the streets, all of whom re-examine their lives and find love or peace of mind. The aerosol cans have joined forces and are marching on Washington to suck in the Congress of the United States, for which they harbor an intense passion, when Henry Fonda discovers they can be forced to spray up their victims if sprinkled with grated Parmesan cheese.

* * *

"The Colossal Cheese" — Twelve people of varying backgrounds have paid $4 each to enter a movie theatre, little guessing that they will find love or peace of mind, least of all when the movie turns into a colossal cheese. Attempts to calm it by offering it Shelley Winters serve only to whet the cheese's appetite and it lurches into the streets looking for Charlton Heston. The cheese runs amok. As it consumes Heston, Paul Newman, Olivia DeHaviland, James Stewart and 12 people of varying backgrounds, the cheese swells to prodigious size. Fortunately, Henry Fonda is on the job. "If we sprinkle it with some grated Parmesan," someone suggests, "maybe we can cut it down to size." Fonda has a better idea. "We'll just cut it up into 90 million little pieces and put a piece in every house" he says. "People would rather have small cheese free than colossal cheese at $4 a seat any day of the week." And that — according to this movie — is how television was invented.

Pilot Pulled from Flames

EDMONTON (CP) — Three men pulled a helicopter pilot to safety Sunday, seconds before his downed craft erupted in flames.

Douglas Baragar, 25, of Edmonton was in satisfactory condition in hospital Sunday, suffering from several cuts, minor burns to the face and arms and possible back injuries.

But as Ron Calderwood, 23, said: "He's luck to see another birthday."

The $50,000 helicopter crashed in a field just south of here. Witnesses said it appeared to become entangled in power lines.

Baragar, working for the city, had been spraying fields in the area to combat mosquitoes.

Calderwood and his 21-year-old brother, Dave, were watching the helicpoter swoop over the fields about five metres off the ground as it sprayed. Ron Calderwood said the aircraft appear to catch the line, wobble momentarily and spin to the ground.

"He (Baragar) was hanging upside down over the instruments (held) by the seat-belt. The chopper was on fire in the front-end motor."

The Calderwoods said they managed to pull Baragar from the wreckage with the help of another witness. As they did, the fire caught the fuel tanks and the helicopter went up in flames.

"If we weren't there, he would have been gone," said Ron Calderwood.

But, he added: "If a guy's in trouble, you help him — any decent person would."

Thousands Line Route Of Parade

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rain and a partial bus strike failed to dampen spirits as thousands of spectators lined the streets to watch the annual Pacific National Exhibition parade.

More than 80 floats, bands and other entries took part in the two-hour parade, the first official event of the 1978 PNE.

Provincial Secretary Grace McCarthy and Captain Cook acted as parade marshals and Premier Bill Bennett officially opened Discovery Fair, the theme of this year's PNE, as the parade passed on its downtown route.

The Discovery theme ties in with the province-wide celebration this year of the bicentennial of Captain Cook's arrival in B.C.

Mr. Mike's won the grand award prize for the best float with an entry depicting horses and swans. The President's award went to the gambling motif of the Reno Convention Centre's entry.

A Seattle entry, a float saluting King Tut, captured the award for communities outside the province, while Vernon won the prize for the best float from a community in B.C.

Energy Bus Ready To Tour Province

VANCOUVER (CP) — A computer-filled bus which will tour the province showing businesses and institutions how to save on their energy bills has been unveiled by Premier Bill Bennett.

Bennett said the bus, known as an energy audit vehicle, is part of a three-year energy conservation program being carried out by the British Columbia Energy Commission.

Two engineers and one technician will, upon request, conduct energy audits at commercial, institutional and small industrial establishments, making use of the video display terminals, computers and print-out facilities aboard the vehicle.

The audit program is sponsored jointly by the federal and provincial governments under an agreement signed last December.

Procedures for the energy audits, which begin this month, were outlined at a news conference Friday attended by Bennett, officials of the commission and the staff who will man the bus.

They said that once the vehicle arrives at the business or institution to be studied, the staff conducts a brief survey to identify major ways of conserving energy.

The results of the survey, plus facts the business has supplied earlier in a questionnaire, are fed into the computer, which then provides a detailed analysis of the establishment's past energy consumption patterns.

It also assesses how much the same patterns of energy use might cost over succeeding years and how much could be saved if recommended conservation methods are carried out.

The computer printout and information on establishing a conservation program are left with management, and it is up to them to implement it.

Bennett said the program is modelled after one in Ontario, where in two years one bus conducted energy audits at about 600 companies and identified potential savings of about $31 million.

The vehicle, which cost $125,000, was paid for by the federal government. Operating expenses during the first two years will be shared by both governments, and afterwards paid by the province alone.

Trio Arrested In Beating

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three Vancouver residents were charged Sunday in a bizarre incident in which a woman was beaten and wounded.

Marijuana Seized

BURNABY (CP) — RCMP in Burnaby, Surrey and Enderby have arrested 11 persons following the seizure of $300,000 worth of Colombian marijuana in Enderby.

An RCMP spokesman here said charges of conspiracy to import marijuana and conspiracy to traffic in marijuana have been laid as a result of the four-month investigation.

Charged with conspiracy to import and to traffic in marijuana were Michael Charles John Nowak, 29, and Patricia Lynn Winthrope, 27, of Richmond; Donald Allan Kirkham, 28, of Enderby; Robert Stanley Teleske, 29, of Quesnel; Ronald James Cole, 35, of Surrey and Stanley Robert McClay, 29, and William Norman Smith, 32, both of Vancouver.

Charged with conspiracy to traffic in marijuana were Horst Jassman, 30, of Langley; Rodney Gregory Bryan, 29, of Coquitlam and Thomas Steward Robertson, 22, and Paul Leonard Ouimet, 27, both of Quesnel.

Iron-Workers Accept

EDMONTON (CP) — Unionized iron-workers in Alberta accepted a new contract on the weekend, but it is unlikely they will all return to work today.

Bill Quibell, a business agent for Local 720, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron-workers, said iron-workers, especially in the north of the province, have been honoring picket lines set up by other striking construction unions. There have been no similar picket lines in the south.

Quibell said the contract, which affects about 1,500 workers, provides for an increase of 12 per cent in wages and fringe benefits spread over two years.

It would raise the average wage for a journeyman this year to $12.17 from $11.44 an hour, retroactive to May 8, and to $12.84 next year.

Quibell said the refusal by the iron-workers to cross picket lines will not affect commmercial construction, but likely only industrial sites.

Forced Unions Urged

VANCOUVER (CP) — The carpenters' union is asking the British Columbia Labor Relations Board to implement a never-before-used section of the provincial labor code and put three Vancouver-area manufacturers of portable industrial buildings under collective bargaining.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local 1928, has applied under Section 40 of the code for joint bargaining covering employees of the Britco Structures Ltd., Artisan Manufacturing and Kompleat Manufacturers, claiming it will prevent price undercutting and stabilize the industry.

The main question at the LRB hearing scheduled for October will be whether the two Penticton firms, Atco Homes and Mariner Homes Ltd., do in fact manufacture industrial buildings in competition with the Vancouver-area firms—as Britco claims.

Alydar Gets Win in Travers When Affirmed Disqualified

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (Reuter) — Alydar, often second best to Triple Crown winner Affirmed, was awarded victory Saturday in the 109th running of the 1¼-mile Travers Stakes on a disqualification.

Affirmed moved up on the outside to hold the early lead with Laffit Pincay aboard, subbing for injured Steve Cauthen. At the halfway mark, Alydar started a surge along the rail, lengthening stride and gaining on his rival.

But then Affirmed cut off the challenger and Alydar dropped back dramatically, only to close with a flourish, pressing Affirmed all the way to the wire.

Affirmed flashed across first by 1½ lengths with Alydar next but after reviewing films of the race, the stewards awarded victory to Alydar. Alydar's last triumph over Affirmed came on Oct. 15, 1977, at New York's Belmont Park.

The two horses went off as co-favorites, rated at 4 to 5. Alydar paid $4 for the win, Affirmed, awarded second, paid $2.10. Official time in the $104,800 thoroughbred race was 2:02.

It was the 10th time the two horses have competed in the same race and Alydar has now won three of those meetings. Affirmed, who won the other seven times, would have topped Secretariat's record of $860,404 in earnings during a single season if he had not been disqualified in the Travers.

Canadian Bill In Front by 20

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian Bill, owned and trained by John Laschuk, left a pack of favorites in his wake as he led from the starting gate to win the 49th running of the Canadian Derby by 20 lengths before 10,648 spectators Saturday.

Teddy Land beat the favored Tough Actor on the home stretch of the mile-and-three-eighths course at Northlands Park to take second. Sparlette was fourth.

Canadian Bill, ridden by Delbert Rycroft and and starting at 9-1 odds, seemed to come into his own on the sloppy rain-soaked track.

Rycroft held the three-year-old colt in a short lead until the last quarter-mile, when he began to pull away, winning in 2:24.3.

Lashuk, of Calgary, purchased Canadian Bill for $5,700 as a yearling.

Canadian Bill paid $21.10, $9.30 and $4.10 as he earned $34,873 for the victory.

Glen Martin Wins Brenton Tourney

CHEMAINUS — Glen Martin earned top honors Saturday as Cowichan contestants finished first and second in the annual Mount Brenton junior golf tournament.

Martin completed the 27-hole event in 110 strokes to capture the title with a three-stroke margin over clubmate Bruce Ogg.

Gary Doherty of Victoria's Uplands course was third at 117, followed by a pair of Nanaimo rivals, Randy Barr (118) and Randy Gallop (119).

Jim Harper of Nanaimo topped the 15-and-under division with a score of 74 for 18 holes, leading runner-up Wayne Walter of Gorge Vale by nine shots.

KIWIS TAKE TEST

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (Reuter) — New Zealand battled to a 13-12 victory over Australia in the first rugby union test on Saturday.

Australian fly-half Ken Wright, who had already kicked eight points, had a chance to snatch a dramatic last-minute victory for his side, but missed a penalty-goal attempt from 35 metres.

New Zealand's points came from a try by Bryan Williams and three penalty goals by Bevan Wilson. Paddy Batch scored a try for Australia and Wright landed a conversion and two penalties.

New Zealand led 10-6 at halftime, but it seemed unlikely the lead would be enough with the Australians getting the benefit of the wind at their backs.

CANADIANS WIN

RECKLINGHAUSEN, West Germany (CP) — Canada's women's national volleyball team defeated West Germany 15-10, 15-9, 15-6 in an exhibition match Sunday.

Individual Awards Nice But Titles are Better

By ERNIE FEDORUK
Times Staff

A member of the losing club emerged as the most-valuable player of the 1978 British Columbia senior "A" men's softball tournament but the attitude of Victoria's players towards individual honors may help explain Budgets' continued control of the team championship.

Catcher, first baseman and coach Bill MacDonald of Abbotsford Rempels drew the MVP nod after his team was beaten, 6-1, by Budgets in the final of the three-team, double-knockout tournament at Royal Athletic Park.

"Aw, so what?" Victoria shortstop Bob Holness muttered in response to one who criticized MacDonald's choice. "I thought (Victoria second baseman) Carl Walker might have taken it, but I don't think it really matters to any of us."

And Walker, the Great Contributer despite a suffering a broken finger Saturday night, merely said "it took 15 guys (to win)."

And to those who know and follow Budget softball, the attitude is not surprising. Neither was their eight consecutive provincial championship and the ninth in 10 years.

The Budgets had it all, again. Pitching, hitting, defence and attitude, as they overcame the token resistance supplied by Abbotsford and Vancouver Thirsk 79ers for this year's trip to the nationals.

The Canadian showdown starts Aug. 29 and at least two new faces may accompany Budgets to St. John, N.B.

Freshman manager Harvey Stephenson said Sunday he hopes to add a pitcher and one utility player to Budgets' lineup. Pitcher Clem Perini of Vancouver and Abbotsford's Rudy Tiechrob were asked to bolster the Victoria team. Confirmation as well as approval by the Canadian Amateur Softball Association is expected later this week.

It's not that Budgets appear to be in need of help as they gun for a fourth straight Canadian title.

With Stan Kern, Andy Konopacki and rookie Dave Wilson each taking turns to claim a victory, Victoria's pitching was solid, conceding only two runs and 14 hits. Kern and Konopacki got Budgets started Saturday and Wilson finished it off with Sunday's smart two-hit shutout.

And while they took a while to warm up, the batters provided plenty of support with 26 hits, including five each by Dennis Eckert and Dave Williams and four by Bob Burrows, who drove in four runs in clutch situations.

Not to be overlooked was the defence and the all-around contribution of Walker.

While pivoting at second to complete a fourth-inning double play in Victoria's 5-1 victory over Thirsks, Walker collided with Vancouver's Gord Alderman.

He suffered a fractured bone in his throwing hand. Walker, however, continued to play. He wasn't expected to bat because of the pain but "hoped for plenty of bunt situations."

He sacrificed successfully twice but then came a time when a bunt was out of the question. In the first meeting with Abbotsford, the score was tied 1-1 when Williams walked with two out in the fifth inning. Walker followed with no choice but to swing away, and promptly singled to centre field to set up the winning run in Budgets' 3-1 victory.

Walker also singled twice and drove in three runs Sunday.

MacDonald managed only two singles in his three games but one drove in the winning run in a 1-0 Sunday victory that marked the third straight year Abbotsford eliminated Vancouver.

Abbotsford shortstop Larry Orwick, who suffered a dislocated shoulder when he stumbled over the baseball mound behind second base during the warmup before the final game, was the leading hitter with a .600 percentage while Konopacki was picked as the top pitcher.

The B.C. all-star team included Eckert, Williams and Reg Underwood of Victoria in the outfield; Walker; Burrows; Orwick; MacDonald (at first), Stan Wiens of Abbotsford at third, and Ray Masse of Abbotsford as pitcher.

Selection did not take the final game into consideration.

RELAXED AND CONFIDENT, Lanny Wadkins blasts shot out of sand trap during Sunday's final round of Canadian Professional Golfers' Association international championship at Vancouver. Everything appeared easy for Lanny Sunday as he fired 69 to finish 72-hole event with 18-under-par total of 270, winning by 12 strokes. Victory, his first of year, was worth $20,000 to Wadkins, last year's U.S. PGA champion. (AP wirephoto)

Wadkins Shatters Par And CPGA Opposition

VANCOUVER (CP) — Starting a golf tournament with a bogey is usually a sign of bad things to come, but it was just the opposite for Lanny Wadkins.

Wadkins, of Advance, N.C., shook off the first-hole bogey in Thursday's opening round and stormed back to win the $100,000 Canadian Professional Golfers Association International Championship Sunday by 12 strokes.

The 1977 United States PGA champion toured the the 6,647-yard Shaughnessy Golf Club in 18 under par. His 72-hole total of 270 was only two shots off George Knudson's 1968 CPGA record of 268.

"It's probably one of the best scores I've ever shot in a tournament," Wadkins said. "I've shot a lower total, but never this far under par."

Wadkins, who shot a course-record 64 Saturday, closed with a three-under-par 69 in the final round, as several challengers ran into a string of bogeys, despite the best playing conditions of the tournament.

Dale Hayes of South Africa, who started the day five strokes behind Wadkins, moved to within four shots of the lead with birdies on the second and sixth holes, but then took a double bogey six on the 370-yard seventh. He had four more bogeys on the back nine and finished with a 76 for a 282 total.

Simon Owen of New Zealand bogeyed the final hole to fall back into a second place tie with Hayes. Owen shot a 73 Sunday.

Dan Halldorson of Shilo, Man., was third at 283 after shooting a 70, which included a 35-foot birdie putt on the 17th. His playing partner, Dave Barr of Vancouver, finished another stroke back after missing a six-foot birdie putt on the 18th.

As top Canadian, Halldorson earned one of two berths on Canada's team for the World Cup at Hawaii in December. CPGA officials will decide on the other spot later.

Victoria's Cec Ferguson, who was the leading Canadian starting the final round, struggled to a 78 and a 289 total that was worth $1,900. A 72 or better wuld have placed Ferguson into contention for a World Cup team berth.

Crowd favorite Arnold Palmer closed with a 77 for 285. The 48-year-old Palmer, who has not won on the U.S. tour in five years, changed putters before the final round by said it was a mistake.

"I was just awful," he said. "My putting just took the punch out of my game."

Palmer was one ot 20 foreign professionals, many of them PGA champions in their own countries, who were invited to compete for the CPGA title. The new format is expected to be continued next year.

A Bruising Confrontation In Dodger Dressing Room

By The Associated Press

There might be discord in the Los Angeles locker room, but on the field the Dodgers still are a well-oiled maching.

Pitcher Don Sutton and first baseman Steve Garvey were involved in a fight-wrestling match in the dressing room before the Dodgers' 5-4 victory over New York Mets Sunday. The altercation was spurred by a newspaper article in which Sutton was quoted as saying: "All you hear about on our team is Steve Garvey, the All-American boy. But Reggie Smith was the real MVP. We all know it ... (Smith) has carried us the last two years. He is not a facade. He does not have the Madison Avenue image."

The two fought for several minutes before being separated, and Sutton came out the worse, with a bruised and swollen face.

"It was just a difference of opinion on the article ... " said Garvey. "The article was completely unnecessary. We are dedicated to winning the pennant. We are supposed to be winning the pennant, not singling out individuals."

In the ninth inning, however, the Dodgers played like the defending National League champions and current leaders in the league's Western Division. They rallied for three runs to overcome the Mets.

Elsewhere in the NL Sunday, San Francisco Giants dropped two games behind Los Angeles by losing 5-3 to Philadelphia Phillies; Chicago Cubs nipped Cincinnati Reds 2-1; Pittsburgh Pirates swept a doubleheader from Houston Astros, 7-6 and 3-1; San Diego Padres defeated Montreal Expos 5-4, and St. Louis Cardinals beat Atlanta Braves 6-4.

The difference in two swings by Jerry Remy meant the difference between an American League victory and defeat for Boston Red Sox.

With two on and one out in the Boston fifth inning, Remy swung—and apparently missed—an 0-and-2 pitch by Oakland right-hander Matt Keough. But plate umpire Ed Merrill ruled Remy had tipped the ball, which rookie catcher Bruce Robinson of the Athletics trapped against the dirt behind home plate.

"It was tough for me to tell but I think I foul-tipped it," said Remy. "I just turned around and saw the ball on the ground. The umpire didn't say anything, so I stayed there."

Keough said plenty, arguing vehemently that Remy had missed the ball and should have been called out.

Remy's next swing launched a Keough pitch over the right-field fence for a three-run homer that carried Boston to a 4-2 victory.

"The guy swings waist high and the pitch is low and outside, so it doesn't take much deduction," said Keough, who had to be restrained by his catcher from going after the umpire.

"This is really frustrating," said Keough, 7-11. "We had a chance to go into third place today."

Instead, the A's lost their eighth game in the last nine and remained fourth, seven games behind the West-leading Kansas City Royals.

In the other AL games, California Angels nipped Baltimore Orioles 1-0 in 14 innings; the Royals edged Texas Rangers 2-1; Seattle Mariners tripped New York Yankees 5-4; Milwaukee Brewers topped Detroit Tigers 2-1; Cleteland Indians bombed Chicago White Sox 10-1, and Toronto Blue Jays beat Minnesota Twins 6-2.

LEITCH, CAMERON FIREBALL CHAMPS

GIMLI, Man. (CP) — Phil Leitch and crew Ian Cameron of Victoria successfully defended their Canadian fireball sailing championship in convincing fashion Sunday.

Leitch, a four-time champion who captured the United States crown earlier this month, and Cameron had two first-place finishes, one second, one third and one fourth to give them 16.7 points.

Their nearest rivals, brothers Clive and Bruce Robertson of Pickering, Ont., were assessed 34.4 points. Kevin Smith and Graham Andrews of Rexdale, Ont., were third.

The sailors competed in six races over the 1.2-mile course on Lake Winnipeg and their five best finishes were used in the results.

Adanacs Tackle Rocks in Final

It will be Coquitlam Adanacs against Victoria Shamrocks in the opening game of the Western Lacrosse Association best-of-seven final series at Memorial Arena, Tuesday night at 8 p.m.

The Adanacs, who qualified for the playofs on the final day of the regular season, defeated New Westminster Salmonbellies 17-9 in the seventh and deciding game of their best-of-seven semi-final series at New Westminster, Sunday.

Victory climaxed a tremendous comeback for the Adanacs who trailed in the series, three games to one.

The Shamrocks, meanwhile, got to the final with a 15-6 victory over Vancouver Burrards at Kerrisdale Arena, Saturday night. Victory gave the Shamrocks that series, four games to two, and ended the hex Burrards have held over them for the past two seasons.

Shamrocks were ousted by Burrards in the semi-finals in 1976 and in the finals last year in a seven-game series that was decided by one goal in the final game.

This year the Rocks took the league championship by a handy margin and also captured the first game of the series from Burrards, 20-7. Then came the shockers. Burrards won the next two, 10-8 and 12-10. Shamrocks took time off for an exhibition series with Nanaimo at the Commonwealth Games and when they returned they won three straight from the defending Mann Cup champions, the series clincher coming Saturday.

Two junior recruits from McDonalds, Doug Angrove and Jeff Whitney-Griffiths, sparked the final win as the Rocks had to come from behind a first-period 4-2 deficit.

Angrove scored three goals, two of them to start off the second period when the Rocks took charge, while Whitney-Griffiths scored two.

Shamrocks outscored Burrards nine goals to one in the second period to lead 11-5 and coasted home from there.

Larry Smeltzer made 30 saves in goal for the Shamrocks, while Vancouver netminder Dave Evans turned aside 15 shots before being injured in the second period when he collided with Whitney-Griffiths.

Evans suffered mouth injuries and was replaced by Brad Berrow, who made eight saves.

For the Adanacs it was a Cinderella story come true.

Obviously the worst team in the WLA through nearly all the season, the A's barely made the playoffs, and trailed 3-1 against the Bellies as late as last Thursday.

Then came a 12-11 squeaker at New Westminster. This was followed by a 23-16 rout of the Bellies in Coquitlam, Friday, and culminated with that 17-9 triumph Sunday.

The Adanacs led 5-4 at the end of the first period and outscored New Westminster 7-0 in the second, four of the goals coming with the A's shorthanded.

The Salmonbellies outshot Coquitlam 61-51 and won 31 of 41 faceoffs but Coquitlam steamrolled to victory on a run-and-gun attack.

Coquitlam was powered by three-goal performances from Mark Valastin and Ray Durante. Randy Delmonico, Moe Jodoin and Randy Bryan scored two each while singles came from Jim Aitchison, Mat Aitken, Dave Cochrane, Ray Mattinson and Frank Neilsen.

Greg Jensen, Wayne Goss and Brian Tasker led the Salmonbellies with two goals each. Norm Leuszler, Ivan Tuura and Keith Scott added singles.

Second game will be played in Coquitlam, Thursday.

Padre Bats Chill Mussels

Victoria Mussels ran into some hot bats at the weekend and the lumber of the Northern Division's Walla Walla Padres chilled hopes of a .500 finish by the Northwest Baseball League's Canadian entry.

Mussels hit the road with a four-game winning streak and success in 10 of 13 games.

But the bubble broke Thursday when the leading Grays Harbor Loggers edged Victoria 3-2.

Walla Walla Padres, pressing Grays Harbor for the divisional lead, tacked on two more setbacks at the weekend.

Al Richmond, the league's leading home-run hitter, crushed Victoria with an 11th-inning single Saturday, driving Mobil Cox in with the winning run as Walla Walla edged the Mussels 8-7.

The Padres continued their assault on Victoria pitching Sunday, connecting for 15 hits, including four homers, to trim the Mussels 13-7.

Most of the damage came in a 10-run second inning, highlighted by home runs from Greg Pastors and Mike Parker, as Walla Walla tagged Victoria ace Dale Mahorcic with his fourth loss of the season.

Mussels wind up their road trip in Walla Walla tonight and then return to Royal Athletic Park to open a two-game series with Bellingham, starting at 7 p.m. Tuesday:

HUSTLERS TRIPPED BY TIGERS

NEW WESTMINSTER — Vernon Tigers captured their third straight B.C. senior B lacrosse championship Sunday with an 8-5 victory over Victoria's Hampton Park Hustlers at Queen's Park Arena.

Dan Holte and Jeff Shirley each scored two goals to pace the Tigers while Muzz Bryant scored a pair for the Hustlers.

Vernon seeks a third consecutive national title in a tournament that begins in Vernon on Labor Day.

In a consolation game, North Shore Indians, who suffered overtime defeats at the hands of both finalists Saturday, defeated Prince George Columbus Royals, 12-10.

CITY GIRL CAPTURES THREE GOLD MEDALS

Games Success Despite Odd Snafu

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Inclement weather and the inevitable errors of a first-time venture did not prevent the British Columbia Summer Games from being an unqualified success, the games' managing director Ron Butlin said Sunday.

Opening ceremonies of the four-day event Wednesday night, presided over by Premier Bill Bennett, were marred by strong winds and showers. The rain continued sporadically until Sunday, when the sun broke through.

The rain dampened the spirits of the 3,000 fans who attended an exhibition soccer game between Vancouver Whitecaps and San Jose Earthquakes of the North American Soccer League. Reserves outnumbered regulars on both teams. Vancouver won 2-0 on goals by Sam Lenarduzzi and Buzz Parsons.

Local interest in the games was not overwhelming, although more than 1,100 volunteers chauffeured, fed and housed the visitors.

Several local restaurant and motel owners said although room bookings were up from last year, there was no marked increase in cash flow.

More than 3,000 amateur athletes, aged 13 to 86, visited the Okanagan city of 20,000 to participate in 29 different sporting events.

About 40,000 persons throughout the province entered regional preliminary competitions, through which the teams and individuals who attended the games were selected.

The games came under fire even before the opening day from Andrew McConkey, a director of Sport B.C., who claimed they were a political manoeuvre by the Social Credit government and were unfair to the athletes involved.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Sam Bawlf called the charges ridiculous, and Sport B.C. officials said McConkey would be censured.

The games were the results of months of preparation by Butlin and his permanent staff of three, who now are planning the winter games for Kamloops in March and next summer's games in Richmond.

The format of the games provided for one group of about 1,300 to participate in 14 sports during the first two days, and then for it to leave the city as another of about 1,600 arrived Friday night.

The plan came under fire because of the tactical problems involved in shuffling 3,000 mostly young athletes en mass via public transit systems and because the competitors had little time for anything except eating, sleeping and attending their events.

Butlin said Sunday that next summer's games would be three days long, but the number of events was still under discussion.

In keeping with the games' intent to provide an outlet for less prominent levels of competition, they were restricted in most cases to athletes who had not participated at a provincial, national or international level during 1978.

Swimmer Laurie Kiselick, 15, of Surrey typified the games' aim. She picked up five gold medals in the first two days of competition by winning the 100-metre and 200-metre freestyle, 200-metre breaststroke, 200-metre individual medley and 100-metre backstroke.

Kiselick, a partially-deaf high school student, had swam in both handicapped and open competitions.

Real Andrews, 15, of North Vancouver, running despite a pulled groin muscle, won three gold medals. He finished first in the 100-metres and 200-metres and was a member of the winning 4 x 100 relay team from Vancouver.

Brenda Dore of Vancouver and Patricia Wellman of Victoria each won three golds in track and field events.

Harvey Portman of Invermere also had three gold in water skiing.

In men's soccer, Kootenay staged a surprise win over favored Prince George to take the gold. Prince George took silver while Victoria won the bronze.

Juan de Fuca beat Victoria in men's lacrosse for the gold and Kelowna went home with the bronze.

Wellman won the girls' 800 and 1,500 metres and the high jump. Kelly Richardson of Victoria was third in the 1,500.

Susan Bond was third in the girls' javelin, Ed Smythe second and Dick DeGoode third in the men's pentathlon and Heather Nixon second in the girls' pentathlon.

In tennis, Victoria won the men's doubles and mixed doubles, while in lawn bowling David Breeden of Victoria took the men's singles crown.

Vancouver Island took the men's double sculls and the women's paired doubles in rowing and Danny Butts won the gold in junior horseshoe pitching.

COQUITLAM TAKES LACROSSE CROWN

Coquitlam Arctics, Whitby, Ont., and Elora, Ont., collected the three titles at stake during finals Sunday at Memorial Arena in the Canadian peewee lacrosse championship tournament.

Arctics topped Richmond Baykey's Barn Builders 11-5 in the "A" division final, Whitby defeated Saanich McLaren Construction 14-12 in the "B" bracket and Elora dropped Huntsville, Ont., 7-5 in the "C" division.

Joey Nieuwendyk set the pace for Whitby with eight goals and two assists. Brent Polischuck and Dave Finnigan led Saanich with three goals each, Gary Gait chipped in two and singles were added by Ravi Dhillon, Jamie Ackinclose, Greg Pepper and Greg Batters.

In semi-final games Saturday, Arctics clipped Peterborough Petes 17-9, Richmond whipped Brampton Excelsiors 17-5, Saanich nipped New Westminster 6-3, Whitby topped Coquitlam 13-10, Huntsville defeated New Westminster 13-5 and Elora bounced Burnaby, 9-5.

Iron-Man Act By Painter

Terry Painter turned in an incredible performance on the mound Sunday to guide Farmer Construction to victory over league-champion Gorge Hotel in the final two games of the best-of-five Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League playoff final at Lambrick Park.

Painter pitched both victories — an 11-inning 1-0 nod in the opener that knotted the series 2-2 and a 3-1 decision in the deciding game — and didn't allow a single earned run while going the 18 innings.

In the first game he struck out 12 batters while scattering seven hits. In addition, he had three hits in five trips to the plate, including a double.

In the second contest, Painter struck out six and walked only three while yielding six hits.

Farmers got the winning run in the bottom of the 11th in the first contest. Painter led off with a single but was thrown out at second base when Ken Ball, who attempted to sacrifice, got on with a fielders' choice. Ball then went to second on a passed ball and scored on a deep drive to right field by Wayne Krimmer.

Three runs in the sixth inning gave Farmers the win and the playoff title in the second game. With one out, Ron Holmes drew a walk, George Pakos reached first on an error and Painter was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Ball then singled in both Holmes and Pakos and Krimmer sacrified in Painter.

Victoria Senior Amateur All-Stars, who took the B.C. title recently, will now practice for the Western Canadian tournament Aug. 24-26 in Nanaimo.

Crash Kills Driver

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A 42-year-old stock car driver, C.H. Whorton, 42, of Tulsa, was killed Saturday when his vehicle was struck broadside by another car as it backed onto the track after a spinout.

Masters Athletes In Record Form

One world record and six Canadian standards fell during the Canadian masters track and field championships Saturday and Sunday at Centennial Stadium.

Clive Davies, a 63-year-old runner from Oregon, set a new world standard for the 60-64 age bracket by winning the 10,000 metres in 35:19.8, beating the previous best by nearly 38 seconds.

Albert Brosz of Ontario was responsible for three new national marks on the 70-and-up class. He jumped 3.41 metres to win the long jump, cleared 1.80 metres in the pole vault and tossed the javelin 22.32 metres.

Two of the other Canadian records were set by Roger Ruth of Victoria in the 50-55 class. He cleared 1.65 while winning the high jump and topped 3.81 to win the pole vault.

Jack Rowe of the Victoria Flying "Y" club set a new national mark in the 50-54 110-metre hurdles with a time of 20.8 seconds.

The other national record was set by Hylke Vanderwal of Saskatchewan, who won the 40-44 3,000-metre steeplechase in 10:04.0.

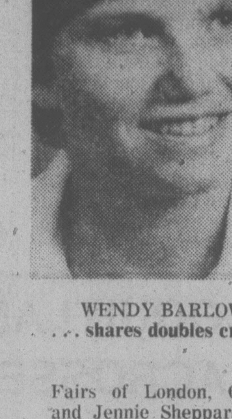
Wendy Keeps Crown; Named to Cup Team



WENDY BARLOW
. . . shares doubles crown

It was a big weekend for Victoria's Wendy Barlow on the national tennis scene.

Sunday afternoon at Ottawa, Wendy won the national junior women's singles championship for the second successive year and teamed with Victoria partner Jennifer Bland to capture the doubles crown.

At Toronto Sunday night it was announced that Barlow had been selected to Canada's Federation Cup team that will compete for the international trophy at Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 27 to Dec. 3. Also named to the women's squad were Marjorie Blackwood of Ottawa and Lise Senn of Toronto.

Tennis officials also announced that Greg Halder of Toronto and Bejean Genois of Quebec City, have been named to Canada's 1979 Davis Cup team.

Richard LeGendre of Quebec City and John Picken of Burnaby will join Halder and Genois for matches against Mexico in October at Mexico City.

On the final day of the Canadian junior championships at Ottawa, Barlow retained her national singles title when she defeated Toronto's Claire Lardner 6-2, 6-1.

Ottawa's Laird Dunlop came from behind to win the boys' 16-and-under crown over Mitch Schachter of Toronto 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Toronto's Fatima Ravat won the girls' 16-and-under championship when she defeated Quebec City's Diane Blondeau 6-2, 6-1.

Michibata and Barlow also shared 18-and-under doubles victories.

Barlow and Bland won the girls' final, beating a Montreal pair, Heather McCarrol and Wendy Gelhay, 6-1, 6-4.

Michibata teamed up with Ottawa's Martin Sostenholme to take the boys' crown, 6-1, 6-4, beating Ottawa's Harry Blackwood and Toronto's Robert Gordon.

The girls' 16-and-under doubles title went to Blondeau and Christine Picher of St. Jerome, Que. They defeated Kim Fairs of London, Ont., and Jennie Sheppard of Aurora, Ont., 6-2, 7-5.

Dunlop won another final when he and Michel Hurtubise of Ottawa beat the Toronto duo of Mitch Schachter and Gary Meanchos 6-2, 4-6, 6-0.

Recreational Route A Haul for Harvey's

Harvey's Sports of Sidney did it the hard way to capture the British Columbia men's recreational softball championship and another comeback of sorts helped Victoria Athletics to prolong a second title series Sunday.

Harvey's, knocked into the losers' bracket after losing earlier in the nine-team, three-day tournament at Heywood Avenue Park, climaxed the long haul back by defeating Hygrade Radio twice Sunday to capture the recreational crown.

Perry Ethier's double scored Frank Scott with the tie-breaking run in the bottom of the seventh inning as Harvey's defeated previously-unbeaten Hygrade, representing the host Heywood League, 7-6, to force an extra game.

Scott clouted a solo homer, a run-scoring double and a leadoff single in his first three trips to the plate but reached base in the seventh on an error. Veteran Don Norbury also had three hits, including two doubles, for the winners.

Dick Michaud capped Harvey's comeback by tossing a six-hit shutout to win the deciding game, 5-0. Wayne Hannan, with a homer and single, and Ethier both had two hits for the Sidney team.

Ferd Pilon went three-for-three for Hygrade.

At Central Park, Seaboard blanked Athletics 2-0 on Randy Jackson's one-hitter and was ready to wrap up the Stuffy McGinnis League title until stung by a last-inning rally. Athletics trailed the second game 5-4 but rallied for two runs, all after two were out, and a 6-5 victory.

Seaboard leads the best-of-seven final 3-1 with the next game scheduled Tuesday. The game also will mark the league's annual "awards night."

Walks and hit batsmen proved Seaboard's undoing. Athletics managed only one hit, a single by John Hughes, but Jackson hit two batters and walked a pair. The final walk, to Murray Sluggett, sent Hughes across the plate with the winning run.

Ker Dodges Trouble To Take Main Event

Nostalgia drifted everywhere in the air Sunday at Western Speedway as drivers, officials and mechanics of yesteryear returned from all over the Pacific Northwest to help celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Langford oval.

The oldtimers even raced antique stock and sprint cars in a trophy dash and three heat races before 1,790 fans, who turned out after the program was rained out Saturday night.

In addition, Orton Ker managed to avoid a smashup to retake the lead and win the 40-lap Roy White Memorial feature for super-stocks.

Ernie West led the feature race until Ker took over on the 14th lap. On the 30th lap, Jim Caudwell managed to get underneath Ker on turn one and take the lead but smashed into Tony Oxley's car, which had spun out and was sitting head-on to the traffic, on turn two. Ker managed to get by unscathed on the outside and went on to win easily.

There was even a pileup in the first heat race for oldtimers, which was on by 71-year-old Tony West of Seattle.

The race was called after five of seven laps when Bud Green tangled with West while trying for the lead. During the mixup, Green's vehicle ended up on its roof after wiping out one of the advertising signs on the backstretch straightaway but Green emerged uninjured.

Pearson Dashes To Win

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — David Pearson held off Cale Yarborough and Darrell Waltrip in a one-lap dash to the finish Sunday to take the $142,500 400-mile Grand National stock car race at Michigan International Speedway.

The culmination of the 200-lap event occurred as Richard Petty, of Randleman, N.C., for the first time in his illustrious career driving a Chevrolet, blew a tire and hit the wall with seven laps to go.

The crash brought out the yellow flag as Petty, injured in the bump, coasted off the track. But officials kept on the yellow light until the final circuit.

The victory, Pearson's ninth at the speedway, was worth $16,025. Pearson took the pole in his Mercury during qualifications Saturday with a record speed of 164.073.

A 'Most Gratifying' Triumph for Elder

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Lee Elder will never play better, and he said so himself.

"The last two months I've played the best golf of my life—probably the best I'll ever play," the 44-year-old Elder said Sunday after an almost errorless round of four-under-par 67 had produced a one-stroke victory in the rich Westchester golf tournament and what Elder called "the most gratifying moment of my life."

He ranked this triumph, his second of the year, ahead of the emotion-packed victory at Pensacola, Fla., years ago which enabled him to become the first Black to play in the Masters.

"This is a little more significant to me, personally," he said.

There were reasons for it.

"I have reached a goal I've been wanting for a long, long time," he said.

First, he said, the victory gave him entry into the World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio this fall. He will be the first of his race to play in the World Series.

"And it puts me in position where I have an opportunity to help represent the United States on the Ryder Cup team next year," he said.

If he makes it—and he's almost certain to do so—he also would be the first Black to play in the matches against Britain's best.

"That's something that has been on my mind for a long time," said Elder, who won the Westchester with a 274 total, 10 shots under par, to claim $60,000.

LEE ELDER
. . . never better

Birdie Putt Pays Off For Colwell

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — John Colwell of Kingston, Ont., averted a three-way playoff with an 18-foot birdie putt on the final hole to win the Simon Fraser open golf tournament Sunday.

The birdie meant a final round of 67 and a 54-hole total of 208 for Colwell who trailed leader Muncie Booth of Vancouver by six strokes entering the final round.

Booth, however, had putting problems and finished tied for second along with Calgary amateur Bill Hobbis. Both had 209.

Hobbis, a native of Victoria and a two-time tournament winner, leaves for Montreal today as a member of the Alberta team in the Willingdon Cup competition.

Green Takes Singles

Doreen Green defeated Edie Stephens 21-4 to capture the Hadfield Trophy for women's singles at the Oak Bay Lawn Bowling Club. Gretrude Neelands edged Vi Marshall 21-20 to win the "B" division.

Post Relishes Golf Playoffs

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Sandra Post missed a 15-foot eagle attempt but then sank a two-foot birdie putt on the second hole of a three-way sudden-death playoff against Kathy Whitworth and Pat Meyers and won the $150,000 Ladies' Professional Golf Association event Sunday at the Dearborn Country Club.

Post, formerly of Oakville, Ont., had a 75 for the final 18-hole round, while Whitworth and Meyers both shot 73s, each finishing with 72-hole scores of 286—two-under-par.

Victory was worth $22,500 and extended Sandra's string of successes in playoffs.

The only other championship for the 30-year-old Canadian came in 1968 when she beat Whitworth in an 18-hole playoff for the national LPGA title.

Ebbels, Grainger Top Times Tennis

Thompson Takes Junior Title

JANET ARNOLD...in mixed doubles final

By MAX LOW
Times Staff

Steadiness was the key to success when the fifth annual Victoria Times Public Parks tennis tournament ended in glorious sunshine Sunday at Oak Bay's Henderson Park courts.

Relying on a solid all-court game highlighted by an excellent return of service, Jack Ebbels, a 30-year-old Victoria lawyer who once was a junior tennis star in Saskatchewan, defeated Dutch-born physiotherapist Paul Tiessen, 6-3, 6-2, to capture the men's singles title.

Victory came at the end of a summer-long march for Ebbels through the massive field which started with 128 players.

Only once in the whole tourney was the cool, steady lawyer under pressure and that was in his quarter-final when he needed three sets to dispose of Peter Wilson (the man most of the players were picking to win the event).

In his semi-final, Ebbels used exactly the same tactics to oust flamboyant hard-hitting Perry Evans, junior men's champion in the Times tourney last summer, 6-2, 6-2. Tiessen had a three-set battle with Chris Forster (last year's runner-up in the men's singles) winning 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, to reach the final when all the semi-finals were staged Saturday.

Ability to keep getting the ball back into the court brought rewards, too, for Marge Grainger, who captured the women's singles title with a 6-2, 6-4 victory over the more stylish Marilyn Williams in Sunday's final.

Marge, a beaten semi-finalist in last year's event, has obviously steadied down her game a lot since then as she showed in beating Claire Ducluzeau, 6-1, 6-1, in Saturday's semi-final. Marilyn scored a 6-1, 6-3 win over Kathy Meredith, who was bidding in vain for her first title in three tries.

There was some fine watching for fans the whole weekend, with Ebbels proving the class player of the tournament. But undoubtedly the most exciting matches came in the junior men's singles event.

Eighteen-year-old Joe Thompson had to fight hard Saturday to reach the final with a 7-5, 6-7, 6-2 win over plucky little 16-year-old Glenn Johnston.

A great sportsman and gracious loser, the much smaller Johnston refused to get ruffled when behind and came back strongly to snatch a nerve-tingling tiebreaker in the second set.

Kerry Chan, a very hard-hitting 17-year-old, downed 15-year-old Richard Folk, 6-3, 6-0, to become the only player to reach two finals in the tourney.

But it just wasn't to be Kerry's weekend.

He led throughout a thrilling first set in his final with Thompson but, with games tied at 6-6, lost a tiebreaker, 10-8, and then went out when Thompson, with a combination of steadiness and confidence, took the second set, 6-2.

Chan looked as though he was going to make up for it and take home at least one title when he and young partner Charlayne Joe won the first set of their mixed doubles final, 6-1.

But the more experienced Chris Barton and Janet Arnold bounced back to take the next two sets, 6-1, 6-2.

After the finals of the summer-long tournament which attracted 256 entrants, Times publisher Stuart Underhill presented prizes to the winners and runners-up.

The windup weekend's matches were umpired throughout by John Fairweather, vice-president of the Vancouver Island Tennis Association (which co-sponsors the tourney) and on Sunday by leading local player Tony Simnett.

Dibbs Pressured by Youth In Winning Canadian Title

TORONTO (CP) — Eddie Dibbs won the Canadian Open tennis men's singles championship on Sunday but may have aged somewhat.

"I feel like an old man," the 27-year-old Miami Beach, Fla., resident said after beating 20-year-old Jose Luis Clerc of Argentina 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 in the final for the $32,000 first prize.

But the victory didn't come easy. Clerc had Dibbs on the ropes in the first set, but the gentile Floridian came back in the final two sets to beat the upstart Argentinian.

Clerc is one of two young players in this tournament to make their presence felt. The other was Chris Lewis, a 21-year-old New Zealander who Dibbs beat 6-4, 3-6, 7-5 in the semi-finals Saturday. Clerc, who celebrated his birthday Wednesday, had advanced with a 5-7, 7-5, 6-4 win over Brian Gottfried, the second seed from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"These young guys coming up are really something," Dibbs, the top seed, said Saturday after his win over Lewis. "I'd just like to make a little more money before they get in there."

With the victory, Dibbs not only increased his prize winnings for the year, but moved into second spot in the Grand Prix point standings behind Jimmy Connors and ahead of Bjorn Borg.

The women's singles champion was determined Saturday when defending champion Regina Narsikova of Czechoslovakia defeated Virginia Ruzici of Romania 7-5, 6-7, 6-2.

Dibbs started off the match with a flourish, breaking Clerc at love in the opening game. Clerc hit a hard serve at Dibbs, perhaps his best serve in the tournament, but Dibbs returned it for a winner with a hard cross-court backhand that found the tape on the sideline.

The pair held service through to the eighth game when Clerc broke Dibbs with the advantage. In the 12th game, Dibbs fought off one set point before hitting a backhander that went long, giving Clerc the set.

The pair was tied 4-4 in the second set when Dibbs broke Clerc's service. Dibbs said later that it was the turning point in the match.

"I tried to get aggressive in that game and it paid off," Dibbs said. "I planned to stay back and make him make the errors. I sensed that would work, but only when I was ahead 5-1 in the final set."

Dibbs broke Clerc in the first, third, fifth and seventh games of the deciding set. Clerc's only game came on a service break in the second.

The final game went to deuce, and Dibbs had the advantage when Clerc hit a forehand shot long, giving the American match point.

"I tried to speed up the play, but Dibbs just slowed it down," Clerc said. "But I'm satisfied with my play here and I'll be back next year and maybe I'll win."

In Saturday's women's final, Marsikova and Ruzici spent 2½ hours on a sweltering centre court at York University Tennis Centre before the 19-year-old Czechoslovakian woman prevailed.

"I was so tired in the third set, I thought I was going to die," Marsikova said. "I had cramps in my legs and felt terrible."

Marsikova broke Ruzici's service in the third, fifth and seventh games of the final set, then held service in the eighth to win the match and the $6,000 first prize.

The last time the pair met, Marsikova won 7-5, 7-5 in the Italian Open final. Ruzici won the French Open earlier this year.

In the men's doubles final Sunday, Tom Okker of the Netherlands and Wojtek Fibak of Poland beat Colin Dowdeswell and Heinz Gunthardt of Switzerland 6-3, 7-6. In the women's doubles final, Marsikova and Pam Teeguarden of the United States beat Chris O'Neill of Australia and Paula Smith of the U.S. 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Attendance at Sunday's final was 5,433, bringing the number for the nine-day tournament to 32,696, including 1,872 for two days of qualifying matches. Last year, about 2,000 more persons attended an eight-day tournament with no qualifying rounds.

Rothmans of Pall Mall Canada Limited ended a nine-year sponsorship of the Canadian Open when the event closed Sunday. A new sponsor has not been found.

Rowdies Tamed

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Maurice Whittle, David Irving and George Best scored in the opening five minutes of the second half Sunday as Fort Lauderdale Strikers defeated Tampa Bay Rowdies 3-2 in the first game of their North American Soccer League semi-final match.

The second game in the American Conference home-and-home final is scheduled for Tampa on Wednesday.

David Robb opened scoring for the Rowdies and Wes McLeod added Tampa Bay's other goal in the last minute of play.

Connors Downs Gullikson

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Jimmy Connors overpowered third seed Tim Gullikson 6-2, 6-3 Sunday in the final of a $75,000 Grand Prix tennis tournament.

Connors treated the crowd to picture-perfect tennis with driving baseline shots, slashing crosscourts and a strong net game.

Gullikson never seemed to get his strong-hitting game together. He had trouble getting his first serve in. When he did control his service, it was an effective weapon, setting up strong play at the net.

In the second set with the score 3-3, Connors ripped off the remaining points with ease as he hit the baseline with forehands and backhands, and scored with serves that Gullikson could not handle.

Smith Just Misses Familiar Gold Touch

WEST BERLIN (CP) — If Graham Smith's fingers had been just a shade longer, he would have won a gold medal at the world aquatic championships Sunday.

But they weren't, so he had to settle for silver in the men's 100-metre breaststroke behind Walter Kusch of West Germany.

Kusch was timed in 1:03.56 and Smith in 1:03.60. That broke the Edmonton swimmer's own Canadian mark of 1:03.81 set at the recent Commonwealth Games, where he won six gold medals.

Smith blamed his final touch at the wall for the loss. He had led from the start and only lost his advantage in the final 20 metres, when Kusch pulled alongside.

"I'd like to see the replay of the finish, because I think I lost it there," Smith said. "I'm sure I misjudged my timing at the wall. Thatwas probably the difference."

Smith's silver was the only medal for Canada on the opening day of swimming competition.

Most of the glory went to the United States, which won the other four events and made a tremendous start in diving, winning both men's and women's divisions Sunday.

Tracy Caulkins of the U.S. broke her own world record in winning the women's 200-metre individual medley in 2:14.07. Her old mark, set at the U.S. trials earlier this month, was 2:15.09.

Bill Forester won the men's 200-metre freestyle in 1:51.02 with team-mate Ambrose Gaines second in 1:51.10.

But the story of that race for Canada was a scintillating performance by 17-year-old Peter Szmidt of Pointe Claire, Que., who finished fourth in 1:51.94.

He broke his own Canadian record of 1:52.65 set in the heats Sunday morning. That, in turn, had bettered his record mark of 1:53.52 set at the Canadian trials in July.

Even more impressive, his swim in the final was almost four seconds faster than he did at Edmonton, where he was one of the big disappointments in the pool for Canada.

"I really did a poor job at Edmonton because I just wasn't used to that kind of competition—the big crowds, the ceremonies and stuff. Now, with that behind me, it's a little easier."

It was the U.S. again in the men's 100-metre backstroke, finishing one-two with Robert Jackson winnning in 56.36 seconds and Peter Rocca second in 56.69. Victor Kuznetsov of the Soviet Union was third in 57.41.

In the final race of the night, the Canadian women's 4x100-metre medley relay team was a distant sixth behind the winning U.S. team in an event in which Canada won a bronze medal at the Montreal Olympics.

The U.S. finished in 4:08.21, beating the East Germans, who won the gold at Montreal, in 4:14.91.

The Canadian team of Helene Boivin of Arvida, Que., Marian Stuart of Montreal, Wendy Quirk of Pointe Claire, Que., and Carol Klimpel of Toronto ended up with a 4:17.30 clocking.

Canadians also were active in water polo and diving, but didn't produce any victories or medals. The water polo squad lost to Australia 6-5 after dropping a 5-1 decision Saturday to the Soviet Union.

Janet Nutter of Toronto finished sixth in the women's springboard competition which was won by Irina Kalinina of the U.S.S.R. while Americans Cynthia Potter and Jennifer Chandler took the silver and bronze respectively.

The swimmers have the day off today, but the water polo team, the synchronized swimmers and the men's in the springboard diving event see action.

CATHY COLLECTS AMERICAN CROWN

PLYMOUTH MEETING, Pa. (Reuter) — Canadian amateur champion Cathy Sherk of Fonthill, Ont., defeated Judith Oliver of Pittsburgh 4-and-3 Saturday to capture the 78th United States women's amateur golf championship.

Sherk, defeated by Beth Daniel of Charleston, S.C., in last year's final, birdied the first hole Saturday with a 15-foot putt, then led 1-up four times during the first nine holes in the match-play competition.

"I hit my drives dead-eye down the fairways and I putted very well," said Sherk, who will compete for the world title in October in the Fiji Islands.

Sherk, 28, had reached the final by defeating Cynthia Hill, the 1974 champion, 1-up on Friday.

Dauber Gets Even

The four-year-old mare, now winner of more than $18,000 in 22 harness-racing starts this year, responded well to the handling of Linton, who broke a mild slump with a total of four wins on the card.

Trevor John, holder of the track record of 2:01 2/5 and winner of two out of three previous clashes with Valiant Dauber, had to start on the outside and finished a tired third.

Linton took Valiant Dauber to the front, getting by early-leader Deacon Brodie, during the first pass in front of the stands and was never in serious trouble the rest of the way.

Steady Nick closed a big gap to nip Trevor John in a camera finish for place money.

On a track rated as good, Valiant Dauber took the lead with a time of 1:00 2/5 for the first half mile and missed the track record by only a fifth of a second without going all out in the final quarter.

Linton, who also collected victories with Dons Florico in the third race, Dustys Bomber in the sixth and Dobbie Joe in the 10th, pushed his win total for the meet to 58 with 12 days remaining.

Bethany Blaze, a highly-regarded four-year-old gelding which had disappointed in three previous Sandown starts, also came up with an impressive win.

Reported to be up for sale for $15,000, Bethany Blaze went to the front quickly in the eighth race and stayed ahead of a good field right to the finish.

A camera finish decided Dusty Tex, Dusty Speedball and H.T. Brook finished in that order following a surge battle for place money.

Fourth-Shot Theory Put to Firing Test

DALLAS (AP) — Dealey Plaza was sealed off and empty. No crowds packed the sidewalks. No motorcade sped along the streets.

Then gunshots crackled, from a rifle and a pistol, bullets slamming into sandbags as police marksmen positioned in the old Texas School Book Depository and on the nearby "grassy knoll" helped acoustics experts investigate the 1963 killing of President John Kennedy.

The re-enactment project was ordered by the House of Representatives select committee on assassinations after the recent re-examination of a police recording.

The recording, made accidentally during the assassination when an unidentified motorcycle officer's microphone stuck in the "open" position, seemed to indicate that four shots were fired.

The Warren commission report said Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, fired three shots into the presidential motorcade. Experts generally agree that a fourth shot would mean another gunman was involved.

The Warren commission had the motorcycle officer's tape during its investigation, but police spokesman Bob Shaw said it was only "recently" that the possible fourth shot was identified.

An Italian rifle similar to the Mannlicher-Carcano that the Warren commission said Oswald used to shoot Kennedy spat out the first shot at 7:10 a.m. The round struck one of three piles of sandbags placed at the approximate positions where Kennedy was hit.

More shots followed from the sixth-floor window from where Oswald is said to have fired.

Then a ninth shot was fired. Markedly lower in volume, it came from behind a fence at the rear of the knoll, a position that would have been in front of the motorcade.

Shaw later confirmed that marksmen were also firing a .38-calibre pistol from behind the knoll. Several theorists have claimed shots were fired from there during the assassination.

More than 50 microphones had been placed around the plaza by the Boston firm of Bolt, Beranek and Newman, the firm that analyzed the 18½-minute gap in Richard Nixon's White House tapes.

In all, more than 40 shots were fired in three separate programs as technicians changed the placement of microphones, generally tracing the motorcade route toward the "triple underpass." The entire project took more than six hours.

Dr. James Barger of the Boston company told reporters the recordings will be analyzed and the results turned over to the assassinations committee by Sept. 1.

Officer Jerry Compton, one of three marksmen shooting in the tests, said the bolt-action Italian rifles were not hard to fire.

Later, with no bullets in his rifle, Compton pulled the trigger three times to simulate firing at a target. The Associated Press timed the shots in 5.8 seconds. Dallas authorities said the time Oswald took to fire was within six seconds.

TEXAN PLOTTED TO HAVE JUDGE HIT?

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Millionaire Cullen Davis was accused Sunday of having masterminded a murder-for-hire plot involving a "hit list" of six names, including his estranged wife, his brother and two judges.

Davis was arrested Sunday and charged with solicitation of capital murder for allegedly trying to hire a "hit man" to kill District Judge Joe Eidson, presiding over the oilman's bitter divorce case.

He was also charged with carrying a prohibited weapon — a pistol with a silencer.

The charges were laid two years to the day after Davis was accused of murdering his stepdaughter.

Davis was later acquitted of the Aug. 2, 1976, shooting death of his 12-year-old stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, at the $6-million Davis mansion here.

District Attorney Tim Curry said he will recommend today that the 44-year-old Davis be held without bail in the Tarrant County jail.

Speaking through his lawyers late Sunday night, Davis called the charges "some kind of frame or set-up."

Davis was arrested moments after driving away from a nightclub parking lot where police said he met with David McCrory, an employee of a firm owned by the Davis family.

Davis is a partner in Ken-Davis Industries, a conglomerate that includes Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Supply.

Curry produced an affidavit signed by McCrory, saying that McCrory had several meetings with Davis during the last four days in preparation for the alleged contract killing.

Black Blasts Carter

PLAINS, Georgia (Reuter) — A black Baptist minister long the centre of racial bitterness in President Carter's home town stood up during morning church service Sunday and accused the president of preventing him from building his own church.

Because of controversy that erupted after the deacons of the First Baptist church upheld their ban against membership by blacks last year, Carter left Plains Sunday to attend church in nearby Americus.

He turned and smiled as Rev. Clennon King as the minister spoke.

"I hope he gets his church built," the president told reporters. "I didn't know anything about it."

Carter, who was spending the weekend at his hometown before heading west on vacation, had supported membership for King in the First Baptist Church of Plains. After the service he chatted briefly with the black minister and shook his hand.

King spoke during a period in which members of the congregation were invited to make welcoming remarks.

"I love the president and he loves me, but he is listening to the wrong Negroes," he said outside the church.

A MAZDA GLC COMES WITH STANDARD FEATURES A VW RABBIT DOESN'T HAVE. AND GOES FOR ABOUT $1,200* LESS.

SPLIT REAR SEATS	YES	NO
ELECTRIC HATCH RELEASE	YES	NO
REAR WINDOW WASHER & WIPER	YES	NO ($105 OPTION)*
TINTED GLASS	YES	NO ($115 OPTION)*
LOCKING GAS COVER	YES	NO
TRIP ODOMETER	YES	NO
WALK-IN DEVICE IN FRONT SEAT (2-DOOR MODEL)	YES	NO
COLUMN-MOUNTED SWITCHES (LIGHTS-WIPER WASHER)	YES	PARTIAL
WHITEWALL TIRES	YES	NO

The VW Rabbit is one of the better small economy cars you can buy today. It's also one of the most expensive.

If, you've got the extra money to throw around, then there's no problem. But, if paying from $5,545* for an economical car isn't your idea of being economical, then maybe, you should consider an alternative.

The Mazda GLC Deluxe.

And, the biggest reason to consider the GLC is because in a lot of ways, it's just as good a car as the Rabbit, but costs a lot less. Some $1,200 less.

To give you a better idea of how good the GLC Deluxe is, let's compare it to the Rabbit.

Yet the GLC rivals it here. These days, a great economy car should give you great gas economy. And the Rabbit does well. It gives mileages of 72 km/gal on the highway and 47 km/gal in the city. It's almost as good as the GLC which gives you mileages of 78 km/gal on the highway and 63 km/gal in the city.

In the area of handling, the Rabbit has very nimble steering. In fact, it almost matches the GLC.

But not quite. You see, the Rabbit has a 31.2 foot turning circle while the GLC's turning circle is only 29.2 feet.

What does that mean? It means, it's easier to maneuver the GLC in heavy traffic, and in and out of tight parking spots.

Today, the ideal small car can't be too small inside. There's got to be some breathing room for the passengers. And both the GLC and the Rabbit give you roomy interiors. (The GLC wins on some interior dimensions and the Rabbit wins on others.) Too bad a lot of other small cars can't be so generous with room.

Also, both the GLC and the Rabbit give you plenty of cargo space. Except, the GLC gives you an added advantage the Rabbit doesn't have. Split rear seats. With them, you can fold the complete seat down flat for cargo space. Or fold either half. And leave an extra seat in the back for a third person. Both cars give you excellent visibility. Both cars give you fully reclining bucket seats. Both cars give you power assisted front disc brakes. And both cars have been thoughtfully built and thoroughly inspected. (A GLC goes through 2,500 specific checks on final assembly alone.)

In fact, as we said earlier, in a lot of ways the GLC is as good a car as the Rabbit. Which raises an important point.

If the GLC comes so close to the Rabbit which is completely out of its price class, imagine how the GLC stacks up against the cars that are in its price class. Need we say more?

MAZDA GLC
We thought of it.

mazda

*Price comparisons are based on manufacturers' suggested list prices (2-door GLC Deluxe and 2-door VW Rabbit Deluxe) available at time of publication.
Based on Transport Canada approved test methods for 4-speed manual transmissions for GLC and Rabbit. The actual mileage you get will depend on your car's condition and equipment, your driving habits and road conditions.

The total price of a Mazda 2-door GLC deluxe including freight and dealer preparation cost is $4,508. Individual dealers may sell for less. The total price of a VW Rabbit 2-door deluxe is about $1200 more.

An EOD expert . . . with tools of a dangerous trade

THEY'RE UNSUNG HEROES

Quiet Men: Explosive Job

By PAT DUFOUR
Times Staff

The two servicemen must remain anonymous.

There's a reason.

The men — a lieutenant and warrant officer respectively — are explosive ordnance disposal experts with the Canadian armed forces' Fleet Diving Unit at Colwood.

Their job is both dirty and dangerous.

A recent report of the Energy, Mines and Resources' explosive branch lauds people like the lieutenant and his co-workers.

It describes them as the unsung heroes of most attempted bombings and adds: "The expertise and ingenuity of the military in bomb disposal is unsurpassed."

In 1977 alone, 479 disposal operations were performed across Canada by EOD teams and from 1970 to 1976, EOD teams destroyed approximately 50,000 pounds of dynamite, 53,000 electric and non-electric blasting caps, 28,000 feet of detonating cord and 16,000 feet of safety fuse.

The EOD personnel, based in a pastoral Colwood setting, have handled their share of that workload.

In 1977 they handled 63 jobs, 30 of them civilian and 28 military.

Five involved what they call IEDs — improvised explosive devices — or in plain words, bombs.

The crew here covers an area up to to Nanoose. From there northwards, explosive disposals are handled by teams from CFB Comox.

He tells of a house in Saanich which was left as a potential powder keg after an indoor swimming pool had been installed.

The dynamite found in an adjacent boiler room, he says, was stuck to the ground.

"We had to neutralize it to remove it."

He says almost a whole box of blasting caps was also found at the top of a closet.

The lieutenant says every job is handled as remotely as possible on the assumption it involves live explosive.

A telescopic pole that extends to 18 feet and has a variety of useful features is an important part of their equipment, as well as their blast shields, heavy helmets and well-padded flash jackets.

During a recent strike, one of their jobs was to dispose of a possible bomb.

"We handled it as if it was a live bottle of nitro glycerine," the warrant officer recalls.

War souvenirs, the lieutenant says, are often potential sources of tragedy.

In an effort to defuse the danger in homes of local servicemen, the EOD unit recently placed an article in the armed forces' newspaper Lookout, offering to examine any souvenirs to see if they are safe.

The offer was made on a no-questions-asked basis.

In an effort to cut down risks run by children, safety lectures are given in local schools.

He warns youngsters and adults should keep away from any Mark 25 smoke flares they may find on beaches or in other areas.

They normally are used as beacons, burning out and eventually sinking into the sea. Some, however, can be duds or only partially consumed and can cause serious burns.

He tells of one youngster who courted fate by picking one up as a souvenir, unaware of the danger.

By the time the experts were called in to dispose of it, the youngster had worked on it, unknowingly, for hours.

"It was shining like a new belt buckle," the lieutenant says.

While the EOD unit handles all explosive disposals, the lieutenant says people should first phone their local police, who will then automatically contact the Colwood unit.

There's a minimum of two men on every EOD team and this is expanded when necessary.

Their protective helmets are equipped so that they are in constant communication with each other.

All procedures are taped for reference in dealing with similar situations in the future.

Planners Approve Panhandle Lots

Panhandle lots are not the problem they were thought to be in Saanich and the municipality should continue to allow this kind of development as an economical use of land.

That's the conclusion reached by the municipal planning department after a random survey of 52 of the 210 panhandle lots in the sewered area of Saanich.

The department's report, which will be considered Tuesday by council's lands, planning and housing committee, explains that panhandle lots are those providing street access by a relatively narrow strip of land.

It says there had been concern that such parcels were "undesirable and generally substandard," but this was not borne out by the recent survey, in which officials called on owners of panhandle lots and asked them to complete a questionnaire.

Officials were able to contact 30 of the 52 owners and the results of the survey "indicate a general satisfaction with panhandle lots and did not identify any real problem areas," the report states.

Ninety per cent of the residents contacted thought the lot size was just right and 80 per cent said they would live on another panhandle lot.

Noise was not a problem for most of the residents. Seventy per cent described the lot as "not noisy" while the remainder conceded only that it is "moderately noisy."

However, a similar questionnaire distributed to lot owners immediately in front of the panhandle lots found less agreement on the noise question.

In this category, 59 per cent answered not noisy, 36 per cent moderately noisy and five per cent very noisy.

Access strips to the panhandle lots are 15 feet wide, or 25 feet if two such lots are adjacent to each other. While the report describes this width as adequate, it notes that houses on the lots in front can be situated only five feet from the panhandle neighbors' driveway.

To minimize traffic noise, it recommends increasing the side yard setback for houses beside the access strip.

The department also recommends that the siting of houses on panhandle lots, as well as those adjacent to them, be regulated by covenant to ensure the best possible siting.

In addition, developers should be encouraged to plant landscape screens along the access strips to the lots.

Park Projects Trimmed Back

Construction of a $220,000 visitors's centre at historic Fort Rodd Hill has been postponed owing to recent federal government budget cuts.

Other projects delayed as the result of Prime Minister Trudeau's pledge for a reduction of federal government spending are a $100,000 program to stabilize the Fisgard Lighthouse causeway, and development of walking trails costing $50,000.

Park superintendent Ian Maclean said today the budget for this fiscal year (April 1, 1978 to March 31, 1979) has been cut from $1,042,000 to $603,000.

"But I'm very hopeful the cuts won't delay our five-year park restoration plan," he said.

Last Novermber, Parks Canada Minister Hugh Faulkner said $4.7 million would be allocated for restoration work at the park over the next five years.

MacLean said construction of the centre has been postponed for at least two years.

"There will be no staff cuts but the new budget probably means there will be no staff additions for possibly two years."

The budget cuts do not effect on-going projects. These include the restoration and preservation of the fort's upper and lower artillery batteries (150,000), improvements to Fisguard Lighthouse ($113,000), fencing ($50,000) and installation of underground power lines and telephone wiring ($40,000).

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I was interested to read of B.C.'s heroin treatment program. Is heroin really the strongest drug and where does it come from? F.G.

A. Yes it is the strongest drug. It is a chemically-processed form of opium from the juice of the unripe seed capsules of the white poppy.

Q. Reading about the dispute at the Vancouver General Hospital, I wondered how many beds it has. Do you know? H.B.

A. It has 1,815 beds and is the largest general hospital in Canada.

UVic Readies Search To Replace Pedersen

University of Victoria vice-president Dr. George Pedersen's appointment as the head of Simon Fraser University will set in motion an elaborate search procedure to find a successor.

UVic acting president Alfred Fischer said today a 13-member committee to start search proceedings will be elected probably in early October.

The committee will be made up of faculty and staff and chaired by UVic president Howard Petch.

It will more than likely start looking inside the university in November for candidates for the vice-presidency, he said.

But if nobody is found inside they will look elsewhere, he said.

The search for a new vice president could extend across Canada, Fischer added.

That's A Fawn Embrace

Fawn found with splinted leg gives affectionate smooch to Clio Matheson, of Wild Life Reserve of Western Canada in North Saanich. Seniors Get Discount Cabs

Victoria Ald. Robin Blencoe's campaign to get senior citizens a 10 per cent discount from local merchants experienced a major breakthrough this week when C & C taxi agreed to join.

Blencoe said today the taxi company's decision is significant because it is a major business.

Since he started his drive last May, Blencoe has managed to get the co-operation of smaller merchants such as bakeries and clothing stores but met opposition from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and larger businesses in town.

He was accused of being unrealistic and told that businesses just can't afford to give a 10 per cent cut to the elderly, some of whom don't even need the discount.

C&C is the first large business in town to offer the discount and it's a step toward proving the concept is a good one, Blencoe said.

He said he wants the chamber of commerce and other businesses to sit up and take notice how the idea is catching on.

With the help of a group of Silver Threads members, Blencoe is planning a September telephone survey of local businesses to find out how many are willing to put their names on a discount list.

In October he plans to send out advertisements advising stores of a deadline date for getting their names on the list.

The completed list will be circulating around town before Christmas and should influence the shopping habits of younger people as well as the elderly, Blencoe predicts.

For Three Salmon, a Fine Return

WE WERE VISITED BY Americans last week, and when they returned to California after a couple of days spent fishing and sight-seeing in these parts, they took with them eleven pints of our good Canadian salmon.

By so doing, they made themselves part of a tourist element that has been the target for any number of barbed shafts this summer.

Taking our fish, by golly! Damn-Yankees raiding a Canadian resource! And so on, with sound and fury drastically outstripping commonsense.

But before getting our hackles up, perhaps we should take a closer look at the four Americans who put their motor home into our driveway.

David and Marquita, Larry and Shirley, came north by easy stages from San Jose. They had looked forward to the trip for a long time . . . saved for it, and planned it carefully.

They hoped that catching Campbell River salmon would be part of it. But only part. And it seems to me that in return for the three coho they took back canned to the United States, they made a handsome return in coin of the realm expended in this area.

First, though, something about these visitors themselves.

Like most Americans of our acquaintance, Win and I found them to be courteous, considerate, warm-hearted to a fault, and keenly appreciative of this green country. They had, in fact, a gift of enthusiasm. This was contagious. If familiarity hadn't bred contempt, it had at least left us jaded to the beauty of sea and mountains. It was good to see our country through their eyes.

On their first day with us, the weather was sour with half a gale blowing. It was no day for smallboat fishing. So we went uptown for a pokeabout in the Campbell River stores.

Next day broke fair. We put my boat in, rented another, and set out to try our luck.

In the course of a year, I catch enough salmon to harden me a trifle to the excitement of the game. Not so with Larry and Shirley. In spite of my urging, they were reluctant to set their trolling rods in the holders, preferring to sit tensely hanging on to them.

When the first coho hit, Larry went pale and all but speechless with excitement. We landed it more by luck than good management. Larry collapsed to a thwart and sat staring at his fish. His hands were trembling.

"Wonderful!" he said. "That's wonderful!"

Let us now get down to figures. On the one hand, three coho salmon represented by II pint sealers of fish, against what Larry and Shirley, Dave and Marquita left behind in the way of cash expenditure.

Full tank of gas for a motor home, which manages a mere five miles to the gallon, $38.90.

One order of groceries at supermarket, $32.

Then there was the outlay directly related to catching those coho. It went like this:

Two 'Deep Six' planers, two 'Super-Strip Teasers', two packages herring strip, one 'Steelex' salmon reel, for a total of $23.60.

Add boat rental, and various miscellaneous items such as one dozen ears of corn, cigarettes, film, fruit, potato chips and electricity used, and we arrive at a grand total for two days of about $240.

I'm not suggesting that every visiting American spends at this rate. Some lay out less, some more. But by an elementary process of projection, I think it's obvious that the return from our Campbell River salmon does help keep Campbell River solvent.

Far be it from me to deny that there are American fish-hogs, just as there are Canadian fish-hogs. That breed is international and universal.

But . . .

The average American visitor as I find him is much more than an economic asset to our home area. He is a law-abiding, generous and very decent operator, and he is welcome to the high-priced salmon that he takes away.

LITTLE WOMAN WITH A BIG GOAL

CHICAGO (AP) — Pam Meister is a little woman with big muscles and a big idea — the idea of lifting 400 pounds off the ground, an utter impossibility for most women, and men.

At four-foot-11½ and weighing 105 pounds, Ms. Meister bills herself as "pound-for-pound, the strongest woman in the United States." She captured the title in April at the U.S. women's national weightlifting championships.

Her best dead-lift weight was 310 pounds, putting the 400-pound dream within the realm of possibility.

"I just love the challenge of beating that piece of metal," the 22-year-old woman said.

Just more than a year ago, she ventured into the world of muscles when she strolled into a YMCA gym.

"Competition, how I love it!" she said. "Before I compete, I go off and I don't talk to anybody. After the national competition, I was sick.

Half Curtains the Answer

The first homes built in North America had very small window openings, and instead of glass, oiled paper sufficed. When more attention could be paid to housing refinements, glass was used, but sparingly and in small panes because of the high tax on glass.

Today style and not economy or availability dictates small panes versus large. However, even though large windows are immensely popular, with them comes a loss of privacy.

In the room shown here, by interior designer Beverly Hornbeck, the row of three large windows helps to make the room seem larger, not only because of letting in light and air, but because the 12-inch recess in which they are placed, gives added dimension to the wall. Unfortunately, though, the front wall location, facing the street, opens the house interior to every passer-by.

Swathing the windows in draperies defeats the very purpose of the windows. Instead, half curtains prove the happy answer. A dark rod looks and is substantial enough to hold the entire fabric length, and it is placed close to the windows so that the curtains just clear the ledge and the recess remains clearly evident. Side draperies emphasize the recess depth because of their installation on the wall where they hang free to the floor.

Because of the front wall location the curtains have an added importance. The fabric can be seen from the outside, becoming almost an architectural factor. Using the fabric then, without lining, lets both color and pattern show through.

Miss Manners

Etiquette for a Drug Party

By JUDITH MARTIN
Washington Post

Why do people keep asking Miss Manners what to say, in a social situation, when they are offered drugs? Whatever happened to "Yes, please," and "No, thank you"?

What happened was that the interesting combination of being both widespread and illegal has given the use of drugs an air that tends to cloud the social judgment of users and non-users. The refusal of an offer is therefore often seized upon by the refuser, or by the refused, as an opportunity to belittle a person of different habits and beliefs, a motive that, however gratifying, is in direct conflict with the purpose of civilized society.

An offer to partake of any possibly pleasurable extra at a social event, whether it is a Campari and soda with lime, a third helping of peach pie, or a walk outside to see the stars, is only an offer, not a test and not a command. One accepts or refuses it simply, according to one's wishes, and one accepts a refusal as simply as an acceptance.

When the activity is one that is illegal — in addition to the disadvantages one might find in the above temptations — the person offering it has some special obligations. Everyone invited to a social event where there will be drugs should be notified of this in advance.

A host must never attempt to cut his entertainment expenses by offering any kind of refreshment to some guests and not to others. The cocaine party-within-a-party violates not only the law of the land, but the sacred laws of hospitality.

The guest who chooses to participate has the normal obligations of curbing greediness and knowing his own limits, as well as remembering that stimulants that make him more fascinating to himself do not have that effect on others. He should refrain as much as possible from describing his sensations.

And the one who chooses not to take drugs while others are doing so should try to refrain from supplementing his refusal with an excuse ("I work for the government") or a boast ("I'm high on life").

Miss Manners Responds:

Q: I should like to bring to your attention a matter that I believe deserves your censure. I refer to couples at the theatre who are so "close" that they totally obstruct the view of the person who sits behind them. I am far from the enemy of romance. And I have only sympathy for those so enfeebled that they need to lean upon each other, although in that case, one can think of institutions more appropriate. Then there is the young woman who sleeps on her date's shoulder. I could wish she wouldn't spread her long hair over the back of the seat and on my lap, and I sometimes wonder why people spend the price of a theatre ticket to sleep when they could sleep free elsewhere. Which brings me to the point that I don't like to spend money to look at the back of someone's head.

A: Romance and getting a clear view should not be irreconcilable. Perhaps you could suggest a compromise, such as, "Excuse me, but I wonder if you two would mind holding hands instead."

Q: My half brother showed up in town with his dreadful mother, who used to be married to my father, and some equally awful cousins. How can I introduce my brother, whom I like very much, without seeming to be related to the rest of the crowd, whom I don't?

A: "This is my brother, and some relatives of his, the Boors." The best you can hope for, in this case, is that people think your brother, rather than your father, married badly.

Feeling incorrect? Address your etiquette questions (in black or blue-black ink on white letter paper) to Miss Manners, c/o the Victoria Times, 2621 Douglas St., Victoria, B.C., V8W 2N4.

FUEL ECONOMY DEADLY

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Rising fuel prices will tempt elderly people on fixed incomes to reduce their winter heating costs, but the saving can have disastrous consequences, a Kingston doctor says.

Dr. George Merry told delegates to a convention of the United Senior Citizens of Ontario that hypothermia, a lowering of body temperature, is a common cause of death in Britain where central heating is often not provided in houses.

"It's not uncommon in Great Britain to find elderly people dead in bed in the morning with the thermostat turned down or no heat at all," he said.

"As we grow older our bodies are less able to adapt to lower temperatures."

He advised elderly persons to keep their heat on and disregard the cost.

Delegates at the convention also voted to oppose the introduction of computerized pricing in supermarkets.

They said they fear computer codes on packages will eliminate stamped prices and confusion will result.

DEAR MIKE: I'm writing this because I'm really sore. You probably won't print it. I work for a car-parts store and would like to comment on Midas muffler shops. I took my 1971 Nova to Midas. To install a new tailpipe, muffler, and exhaust pipe would have cost me $101. I know parts prices and refused to sign the work order. An exhaust pipe that they charge $13 for lists for $19 to the general public in our store. A tailpipe they were asking $13 for lists for $4 here. And those are Walker parts, not junk. Midas really socks it to you. — STEAMED

DEAR STEAMED: Sure, Midas charges more for parts than your store, but Midas includes installation labor and overhead. Some home mechanics replace their own exhaust systems and save 50%-75%, but it's a lot of work.

DEAR MIKE: The repeated engine stalling our fuel-injected 1976 Seville is extremely annoying and dangerous. It's worst in hot weather. The dealer attributed it to dirty gasoline and cleaned the fuel tank and gas lines. Cadillac has sold an abundance of fuel-injected Sevilles, and I cannot believe I am the only owner to experience this problem. — STALLED

DEAR STALLED: Mild vapourlock comes to mind, but then, too, some of the early fuel-injected systems did give trouble. Have your dealer test your system thoroughly.

DEAR MIKE: My 1970 Ambassador V-8 uses about a quart of oil every 150 miles. Sometimes a little white smoke comes out the tailpipe on startup. One rear sparkplug often fouls. I get better oil mileage when the dipstick says "add" than when it's full. Mechanics have offered me varied opinions. Please help. — HELP

DEAR HELP: If your car is putting out just a little white smoke, it means it's not burning a quart of oil every 150 miles. If it were, white smoke would pour out in great screens. Your engine might be leaking oil out a rear seal when it's running. The plug fouling probably isn't related and might be a bad wire.

Bio-dex

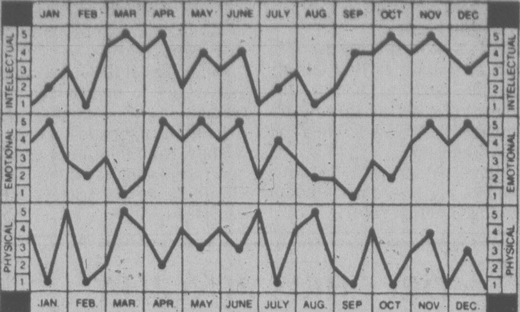
Aug. 22/78

By Ken J. Michaels

Your computerized biorhythm

©BIODEX PRODUCTIONS 1978

Dist. by Toronto Sun Syndicate



HOW TO USE YOUR CHART:

BIO-DEX READOUT:

0-5 Negative Cycle- Your inward hostilities may unleash themselves. Don't bully people — they're not responsible for your troubles.

6-10 Neutral Cycle- You are vulnerable and easily hurt by what others say today. Don't let yourself get depressed over it.

11-15 Positive Cycle- You may find yourself in a position of power today. You will make sound judgments if you weigh the circumstances carefully.

On those marvellous days when your physical Bio-dex peaks at 5 points you may be tempted to take up jogging or some other vigorous exercise. If you're out of shape, be careful not to overdo things. Your doctor is the best person to calculate your limitations, so take time to have a check-up. That way you'll enjoy your physical highs and avoid dangerous over-exertion.

DEAR ABBY: Most people my age (22) know what VD is, but they don't think it can happen to them. Well you don't have to be a "run-around" to get it.

I was a virgin until I was 21. The I fell in love and went all the way with my boyfriend. Soon after, he told me he just found out that he had gonorrhea, so I went to a clinic and found out that I had it too!

I had treatments and was cured. We fought about this for some time because I knew I hadn't been with anyone else, and he swore he hadn't either.

After we broke up, I fell in love with another guy and we had sex. Soon after, he told me that he had VD, so I went to the clinic again, and sure enough, I had it too (Syphilis.)

Now that this has happened a second time, I have decided that sex before marriage is not for me.

Abby, please let your readers know how easy it is to get VD. Both these guys looked so clean. I never thought it could happen to me. — Learned My Lesson

DEAR LEARNED: Anyone who is sexually active should know how to prevent VD and how to spot the symptoms. Your county department of public health can provide you with free information, examinations and treatment if necessary. (They are listed in your telephone book.) Planned Parenthood offices also provide free information on how to prevent (and cure) VD. Or ask any physician.

Both gonorrhea and syphilis CAN be completely cured if treated promptly by a doctor. If untreated, they can cause blindness, sterility, paralysis, heart disease and even death.

If you are under 18 and can't level with your parents, treatment is available in most cities without parental knowledge or consent.

DEAR ABBY: I love ya, but you've been harping on the evils of smoking often enough. Knock it off, will you? — Drag Queen

DEAR QUEEN: I know that I have been harping on the evils of smoking often. But not often enough.

DEAR ABBY: I will be married soon and everything is all set. There's only one problem. Since my parents are hosting the rehearsal dinner, they thought it would be appropriate to serve champagne. But my fiancee's family belongs to a church that doesn't believe in drinking alcoholic beverages.

What is proper in a case like this? We'll go along with whatever you say. — Anxiously Waiting

DEAR WAITING: When entertaining, if some guests drink alcoholic beverages and others do not (for any reason), serve a selection of beverages and let your guests take their choice.

Party Benefits

LONDON (AP) — The Scottish National party has been willed £200,000 ($440,000) by farmer Walter Paterson Neill. The amount is 20 times the cost of the party's campaign for the last general election. Neill, 60, died last June. He was a member of the party, which advocates independence for Scotland, but never sought office, party officials said. The party holds 11 of Scotland's 71 seats in the House of Commons.

No Charm Taught in This Girls School

In fact, the three basics Thomas has literally pounded into the 1,000 or so women who have taken his classes in self-defence are "be sneaky, fight dirty and win."

Graduates tell of how they fended off attackers, using class techniques. Karen recalls breaking a neighbor's window when she feared she was being followed. When the neighbor stormed out, the would-be attacker was scared off.

Then there is Kay, who was grabbed from behind as she entered her dormitory. As her assailant began talking to her, she punched him savagely in the throat. He was still out 10 minutes later when police arrived.

Thomas' students are trained both physically and mentally with several model muggings. Thomas dons 20 pounds of padding, shin guards, a bullet-proof vest and a modified hockey helmet and jumps the women when they least expect it.

The women have to pummel Thomas into submission at least 10 times to pass the course.

"I tried to encourage them to overcome their inhibitions about striking out," Thomas says. "That's the most difficult part of the course for most women who have been taught to be nice and never physically aggressive."

Ellen Brigham, 24, a graduate of Thomas's class who teaches his methods to women at Stanford, said that contrary to rules of judo, students are told to go straight for the groin, eyes, throat and temples.

"The actual technique is really simple," she said. "You just jump in and fight in the crudest, most powerful way you can."

150 Watch as Boa Crushes Man Dead

LA TUQUE, Que. — As 150 people watched in horror, Le Grand Melvin, a 25-year-old entertainer who dressed as a vampire and performed morbid acts, was strangled by his 2½-metre-long boa constrictor at a nightclub here early Sunday.

The incident occurred shortly after midnight when Melvin, whose real name was Jean-Guy Leclair, was playing with the snake near the end of his first act of the night at the Club LaTuquois in this community 210 kilometres north of Montreal.

"If I'm not on my feet again in 20 minutes," Leclair told the audience just before he began his act, "you can put me in my coffin right away. It will have been the end for me."

Gaetan Grenon, manager of the cabaret, said in a telephone interview: "He seemed to miss a reflex and the boa wrapped around his neck."

Grenon said when he noticed Leclair becoming blue in the face, he called the police, who arrived within minutes.

TORONTO — Maurice Bolyer, widely known as King of the Banjo, has died in hospital of an undisclosed illness. He was 57.

A native of Edmunston, N.B., Bolyer had three gold albums, played concerts across Canada and the United States.

SARATOSA, Fla. — Col. Edward Churchill, the engineer who headed construction of Montreal's Expo '67, died of a heart attack Sunday near his retirement home here. He was 65.

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. — As dozens of reporters, photographers and curious bystanders looked on, Jennie Eisenhower made her debut as a public figure on the weekend.

Opening her mouth to a full yawn, Jennie was rolled out of San Clemente Hospital in the arms of her mother, Julie Nixon Eisenhower.

CHICAGO — A Circuit Court judge has ruled that Nobel Prize-winning author Saul Bellow must pay his third wife a $500,000 lump sum alimony award and $800 a month in support for the couple's son, Daniel, 15.

Bellow, 62, recipient of the 1976 Nobel Prize for Literature, was told by the circuit court judge that he also must let his ex-wife move to New York City and pay for the private schooling and medical care of his son.

CAPE TOWN — South African President Nicolaas Diederichs, who has been severely ill in a hospital for almost two weeks, suffered another heart attack Sunday, his private-secretary said.

The latest statement said his condition was serious.

LOS ANGELES — A 20-year-old man who underwent two heart transplants has become the father of a healthy eight-pound 13-ounce girl, a hospital official said Sunday.

He said that so far as doctors at the hospital could recall, it was the first case of a man who has undergone two heart transplants becoming a father.

Robert Dodge, of Los Angeles, underwent heart transplant operations in 1975 and 1976. Since the second operation he has been taking large doses of steroids to prevent his body rejecting the heart, doctors said.

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — Brian Patrick Crosby, 18-year-old grandson of the late entertainer Bing Crosby, died when his motorcycle crashed during a police chase in Beverly Hills, police said Saturday.

Crosby, a University of California-Los Angeles student, was pursued by two officers late Friday when he allegedly ran a red light, police said. Crosby was killed when he sideswiped a car and was thrown from his motorcycle, hitting his head on a parking meter.

The Bridge Expert

By FRED KARPIN

East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ A Q J 7 5
♡ 8 6 4
◇ A 7

WEST
♠ 8 6 2
♡ A 9 3
◇ K J
♣ K Q 10 7 4

EAST
♠ 9 3
♡ 2
◇ Q 8 6 5 3 2

SOUTH
♠ K 10 4
♡ K Q J 10 7 5
◇ 10 9 4
♣ 5

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♣	3 ♡
Pass	4 ♡	Pass	Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣.

On West's opening lead of the club king, East signaled encouragement by playing the eight-spot. West now took a time-out to reconstruct South's hand.

Based on South's jump bid of three hearts, West concluded that the former had six solid hearts (missing the ace, of course). South also almost surely had the spade king, which solidified North's spade suit. Hence the only hope of defeating the contract seemed to rest in he diamond suit. So, at trick two, with the hope that his partner had the diamond queen, West banged down the king of diamonds.

The trick was won by dummy's ace, after which a trump was led, South putting up his king. West, upon capturing this lead with his ace, returned the jack of diamonds. East now came up with a couple of good plays when he overtook the jack with the queen and returned a diamond (instead of the club ace). West ruffed this lead with the nine of trumps, for the setting trick.

As will be concurred in by all, the play by the defenders was top-notch, and they deserved their victory. But the fact remains that declarer could have fulfilled his contract and should have done so.

When West shifted to the diamond king at trick two, declarer should not have been in such a hurry to win the trick with the board's ace. A diamond trick had to be lost — and declarer should have allowed West't king to capture the trick. West would then have led the diamond jack to dummy's ace, after which a trump lead would be made and teken by West's ace. West would now lead a club to East's ace, and declarer would trump.

By not taking the diamond king, declarer would have broken the East-West line of communication in diamonds — and West would never have gotten around to ruffing a third diamond lead.

Astrolgoical Forecast for Tuesday, August 22
By SYDNEY OMARR

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Obtain hint from Leo message. Take ring roads—direct course now does not prove productive. Be cautious where legal papers are concerned. Rentals, leases deserve double check. Partner or mate may not have complete story.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You're involved, relationship intensifies, personal and business commitments are emphasized. Capricorn, Cancer and the number 8 figure prominently. If married, play cards face up with mate. If single, get lowdown on where you stand and what you can expect in way of compensation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Current field of interest could lag. You're getting ready for something more constructive. Review employment picture, prospects good news due concerning health. Aries could play key role. Get second emotional wind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be confident concerning your own style. Creativity is emphasized; stress independence, personal touch. Member of opposite sex plays dominant role. Welcome new starts, challenges, chance to display unique abilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Low profile best suits objective. Know it and act accordingly. Collect, plan, prepare — be thoroughly familiar with project, from ground floor to most elevated position. Take time — Cancer individuals back you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Test ideas in marketplace. Get off sidelines, take trip, make call, submit ideas and questions. Get into melee, into thick of "game." Gemini, Sagittarius and Aries persons play key roles. Social affair could lead to valuable contact.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Marc. 20): Get material in working order. Money and prestige could be on the line. Thoroughness wins—slipshod methods lead to loss. Know it and act accordingly. You get good news following tense period. The number 4 will figure prominently.

IF AUGUST 22 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are unorthodox, original, perceptive, rebellious and began thinking for yourself at an early age. You could have been separated—physicaly or psychologically—from one or both parents. Scorpio persons play important roles in your life. New start you made this year will prove to be a blessing. Added independence, fresh opportunity—and love—are highlighted for you in September.

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. H. HUNTER

Linda helped her husband empty the big paper bag. "You see, I didn't get much, only eleven items," she said. "Here's the check."

Paul looked. "That's right, eleven amounts," he replied. "But it's funny. Each is just 5 cents more than the one before, and the last is exactly double the first."

(Answer tomorrow)

Lettuce Seedlings Set Out

The warm weather and drying winds have not been kind to these little plants, so progress has been slow. However I decided that the difficulty would be overcome by filling a 12- by 24-inch wood flat with good soil and putting in two dozen of each seedling kind.

Watering will be easily controlled in this more humusy soil and it is easy enough to move the flat into shade on a really hot day.

In about two weeks time, weather is likely to be cooler, more to the liking of endive and lettuce making it possible to plant out into a sheltered row space emptied of peas by that time. With a good rootball built up in the flat, plants should be ready for eating in a further three to four weeks.

Meanwhile there are still more than a dozen of two kinds of lettuce still growing in shaded pots. These will see us through until the new transplants are large enough to use.

For still later transplanting are two or three dozen seedlings of Early Simpson lettuce and the same of New York lettuce.

These two kinds will probably go into a sheltered space in a couple of weeks time. When unsettled chilly weather comes they will be given the slight protection of either a portable coldframe or a couple of glass cloches. Last year these were successful in maintaining a continuous supply of salad greens throughout winter.

The seed of Corn Salad, still not freely available locally, will be sown this week if temperature does not rise again, in a small plot where it will grow to usable size. It does not transplant easily.

Humus encourages large root systems which makes frost heaving less of a disaster, for fresh dry compost can be sifted into the spaces caused by the frost lifting the plants from their contact with surrounding soil. Exposed roots soon die in air.

Another job in the vegetable garden has been the daily picking of fully ripened tomatoes, for if left they risk being split by a light rain shower, or dropping to the soil in a wind. In either case, slugs are likely to be attracted by the tasty moisture of the fruit which seems to their liking. Quite large holes are found in tomatoes with the obvious glistening slug trails showing "who dun it."

Tomatoes are so delicious when vine ripened that they can substitute for bought fruits as a source of vitamin A and C, besides containing minerals and useful amounts of thiamin, riboflavin and niacin. Calorie count is lower in equal volume of fresh tomato and of orange.

Why not substitute raw ripe tomatoes at breakfast and lunch to use the surplus as it occurs?

With a bit of planning to fit in these comparitively small garden jobs even we busy folks manage to have a supply of home-grown vegetables for nearly every day of the year. And we are outdoors every day of the year too, either producing or gathering, or both.

Big Man of Letters Fated for Vatican?

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Applying the "alphabetical-physique" system to the forthcoming papal election eliminates a lot of the top possibilities. But it upholds some others.

However irrational, the system has worked for more than 100 years.

"It must be quite a coincidence, but it has quite a record," says Catholic historian James Hitchcock. "If you take it seriously, which I don't, it eliminates quite a few candidates."

Ever since the election in 1846 of the hefty Giovanni Mastai Ferretti as Pious IX, that sequence has held true through the years of seven additional papacies.

If it's working this time, it will rule out several of those considered leading possibilities, since the sequence requires that the new pope have an "r" in his surname and they don't.

Those not meeting the curious criteria include Cardinals Giovanni Benelli of Florence, Austria's Franz Koenig, England's Basil Hume, and four Vatican executives, Sebastiaggio, Pericle Felici, Sergio Pignedoli and Jean Villot, a Frenchman.

But the system would accord with the election of other papal potentials, namely Argentina's Cardinal Eduardo Pironio and Holland's Johannes Willebrands.

The system demands an "r" for the successor to Pope Paul VI, since his name, Giovanni Battista Montini, was minus the "r," and he was slim.

His portly predecessor, who as Angelo Roncalli became Pope John XXIII in 1958, did have the "r" and the weight.

Before him, in 1939, came the thin Eugenio Pacelli, as Pius XII, with no "r" in his name, and these other predecessors with the same pattern of variation:

Damiano Achille Ratti, in 1922, as Pius XI, a heavy-set man; Giacomo Della Chiesa, in 1903, as Pius X, a hefty man; Gioacchino Pecci, in 1878, as Leo XIII, a thin man, also "r-less," and in 1846, the generously built Pius IX with an "r" in his name, Ferretti.

NEW U.S. AIRLINE POLICY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter today announced a new U.S. international air policy aimed at greater competition among the world's airlines, fewer government restrictions and lower ticket costs.

In a statement released by the White House, Carter said American and foreign travellers already are benefitting from this policy, which U.S. negotiators have been following for several months in anticipation of today's formal announcement.

"Our policy seeks to encourage vigorous competition, with the goals of permitting lower fares, better service to more cities, and fewer government restrictions on charter travel," the statement said.

The president cited the recently-signed U.S-Israel air agreement as an example of how the policy works.

"It will permit healthy competition among our airlines, and, by giving Israel authority to serve four additional U.S. cities.

Plenty of Laughs

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Times Staff

Humor spiced at times with a nimble wit; a mildly raunchy theme with unexpected overtones of innocence and wistfulness — these are the joy-making factors of Two and Two Make Sex.

The comedy will inhabit McPherson Playhouse until Sept. 2 except for tonight and Tuesday when the stage will be given over to the operatic wind-up of the Victoria International Festival.

With the latest in their specialty line of British bedroom farces, Victoria Actors Association has come up with something that, if not as hysterical as Move Over Mrs. Markham, keeps the audience chuckling from curtain to curtain, would set a laugh meter jumping often enough and increases its average as the climax builds.

Allan Purdy's seasoned direction has produced some great business and exploits the obvious comedy inherent in the story of George Williams, aged 49, who is going through a "virility crisis" and rather tentatively and awkwardly is embarking on an affair with young Jane Bowers. The direction also reveals a sensitivity towards the play's other levels while maintaining the over-all light touch.

As George, Colin Skinner is in top form, which is saying a lot, for Skinner is unquestionably the finest comedy actor on the Victoria stage and could challenge most imported talent. He revels in such high comedy business as struggling with the instability of a bean-chair but he also avoids excesses of clowning and does not miss whatever subtlties he can invoke to project something more than the customary one-dimensional farce character.

Skinner is thoroughly well supported by the rest of the cast; in fact, despite his star quality there is a genuine ensemble effect with this group. Janet Senior as the mature but still charming wife, Mary Bissenden as the dewy young girl, and Carolyn Stephenson providing a bouncy, soprano obligato as the advice-to-the-lovelorn friend, are all excellent.

A projection of George 25 years earlier is to be seen in the role of Nick, Jane's matter-of-fact live-in boy friend who starts a double-dating game with George's wife. John Britt is well cast in this role and handles it with a considersable and buoyant charm. The deus ex machina is the friend who appears late in the final act and Jack Droy in this role makes one wish he had been introduced earlier.

The denoument is superbly funny which makes this play somewhat unusual in its genre for in most the big yuks come in the beginning or middle and the end flattens. Just the reverse happens here and on opening night the cast, which had seemed just a little low-keyed at the start, rose well to the challenge.

Carole Sabiston has done a skillful and pleasing piece of work in designing the dual set which presents both the Williams' upper middle class living room and Jane's brightly modern bed-sitter. Fresh attractive costuming is by Biddy Gaddes.

Purdy's inovation of an after-production entertainment on the McPherson's mezzanine foyer — Victorian Varieties — was a smash success with the first-night sell-out audience.

Designed and directed by Harry and June Elsdon it consists of old favorite British vaudeville songs of the gay 90s. With Peter Yakimovich at the piano and the genial personality and fine baritone of Elsdon emceeing, this is an audience-participation event complete with song sheets. And despite their all-out performances in the play, most members of the cast as well as the director perform their own favorite songs with the assistance of a variety of headgear. This will be repeated each night except Aug. 28.

SEVERED ARMS OF BOY SEWN ON

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The severed arms of a 2½-year-old boy who was entangled in farm machinery were reattached to his body in a 12-hour operation on the weekend.

Attendants at St. John's Hospital said the condition of Devin Vannoy was "critical but stable." Doctors said it would be a week to 10 days before the success of the surgery could be determined.

The armless boy was brought to the hospital Friday. Surgeons had him on the operating table for three hours. Then, according to doctors, a rescue squad was ordered to the Vannoy farm 64 kilometres away. They tore apart the farm machinery and recovered the severed arms, which were flown to the hospital.

A representative of a farm implement company worked with paramedics to dismantle the corn auger where they found the arms in the conveyor mechanism.

Block Parent Week

Greater Victoria municipalities will proclaim Block Parent Week starting Wednesday and ending Sept.21.

Displays will be set up at major department stores with information booths at the Hillside and Mayfair Malls, the Bay and Eatons to provide the public with information on the program, a spokesman for the Victoria Block Parent Association said today.

The program, supported by school boards, service clubs and municipal police departments, is aimed at providing the community with an organized method of protecting children 24 hours a day.

It also assists in reporting emergency problems to various agencies, such as police and fire departments.

Police Patrol On Bikes

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A policeman is cruising late at night when his radio crackles with a trouble call. He shifts into high gear, cuts through an alley and dims his light.

Slowly, quietly, he puts down the kickstand.

This scene is routine in Madison this summer, since the city began putting policemen on bicycle patrols in the downtown and University of Wisconsin campus areas this spring.

"They're regular policemen except they're on bicycles," says Emil Quast, the city's police expediter. "They do everything policeman in cars do."

The cycle policemen carry smaller guns for convenience, but the only other difference in their appearance is that they may wear shorts during hot weather.

FACE-LIFTING IN HOTEL ROOMS

TORONTO (CP) — Check into a hotel and have your face lifted, breasts re-shaped or nose narrowed. This is a trend that two Toronto plastic surgeons are promoting by setting up mini-hospitals in two of the city's larger hotels.

Dr. Harold Silver opened such a facility for cosmetic surgery at the Royal York Hotel in 1974. Now, Dr. Earl Farber has followed suit by moving into the Inn on the Park where he had four bedrooms in the hotel remodelled.

The idea is good, Dr. Farber said, with hospital costs soaring, beds getting scarcer and preference going to critically ill patients who need them more than someone who wants elective surgery uch as a face-lift.

In Dr. Farber's facility, there is a reception area that looks like a living room, a secretary's office, an examining room, a washroom, an operating room and recovery room.

Elected Officials For Common Issues?

HALIFAX (CP) — The Chronicle-Herald quotes Claude Morin, Quebec's minister of intergovernmental affairs, as saying a body of elected representatives from a sovereign Quebec and Canada to make decisions on some matters of common concern is among the "possibilities" being studied by Quebec as is plans for negotiations with the rest of Canada after separation.

Several bodies, or possibly the same one, may have a mandate to deal with such matters as economic association, customs, defence and other things that would be involved in "sovereignty-association," Morin said in an interview.

He added that none of this has yet formed the basis of negotiations with federal authorities and he doubted it would be discussed at federal-provincial constitutional talks expected this fall.

Morin said the maintenance of an "association" with the rest of Canada raised a "dictionary of questions on which, however, the (Quebec) government would not be making definitive statements for some time.

"Of course, there will be government officils for administrative purposes but, in addition, there might be already elected members such as myself delegated to this body, or indeed people elected directly to the body, like federal MPs."

He said the terms of any future association would not be discussed with federal authorities until after the proposed referendum on separation, which he said will not be held before the next federal election but will come during the current mandate of the Quebec government.

GM HIKES UNFAIR: BROADBENT

TORONTO (CP) — General Motors of Canada Ltd. should explain why some 1979 car prices in Canada will be raised more than in the United States, according to federal NDP leader Ed Broadbent.

Broadbent, MP for Oshawa-Whitby, said that unless General Motors produces hard evidence to justify a widening of the price difference, the pricing policy is unacceptable and unfair.

Company officials announced Friday that prices of 1979 base-model cars in Canada will increase 4.4 per cent, compared with 3.9 per cent in the United States.

Broadbent said the federal department of consumer and corporate affairs and the department of industry, trade and commerce should investigate the price increases.

Mints for Mexicans Flop: Canadians Lose $1.8M

TORONTO (CP) — The Canada Development Corp. lost about $1.8 million in a deal to manufacture breath fresheners in Mexico, according to the Globe and Mail.

The corporation entered the venture after Connlab Holdings Ltd., its health-care holding company, and Dumex of Denmark, a pharmaceutical manufacturer in which the corporation holds a majority interest, wanted a foothold in the Mexican market, according to the Globe report.

Fifty-one per cent of the venture — called Dumex of Mexico — was owned by Peter Kuntz, a United States business executive, and the remaining 49 per cent by Connlab and Dumex of Denmark, it says.

Kuntz, president of Dumex of Mexico, owes about $600,000 on a promissory note to the corporation and fears he might be jailed in Mexico as long as he does not have the money to redeem the note, the paper adds.

When the Mexican plant closed last January after four years of operation, many Mexican workers accepted boxes of mints instead of the salaries to which they were entitled, the newspaper says.

It says one of the Mexican owners of the rented factory had to sue to collect back rent and eventually was paid some rent in mints.

Pilots Strike Wednesday Against Air Can

Air Canada's 1,700 pilots have voted 96.6 per cent in favor of strike action, spokesmen for the Canadian Air Line Pilots' Association report.

The strike is to start at midnight Wednesday, Victoria time.

But in Montreal, Air Canada president Claude Taylor said today he was still optimistic a strike by the pilots could be averted and offered concessions which he hopes the pilots "will accept as a basis to not go on strike."

Captain Norman Foster, chairman of the association's master executive council, said concessions offered to the association by Claude Taylor, president of Air Canada, contain nothing that could avert a strike.

Foster said Air Canada's pilots have reduced their demands to a minimum of three demands from 65.

The three demands are a one-year contract, anti-inflation board limits of about 5½ per cent to salary increases and recognition and acceptance of the principle of the effect of a merged Air Canada-Nordair pilot seniority list.

Foster said there is agreement with Air Canada on all issues except the seniority list.

He said this issue is so important it is worth striking for.

In his telegram sent to the association today, Taylor said the Air Canada-Nordair seniority issue should be deferred to a future date.

Taylor had said he was still optimistic a strike by the airline's pilots could be averted and offered concessions which he hopes the pilots "will accept as a basis to not go on strike."

He had offered to submit to binding arbitration a long-standing dispute over whether pilots should be permitted to fly first class, or "deadhead," to and from flight assignments.

In addition, he said, the Crown-owned airline was willing to accept a one-year contract, as demanded by CALPA. Air Canada had been holding out for a three-year contract, according to pilots' spokesmen.

Length of the contract has been a major issue. Air Canada still has one year to run under anti-inflation board controls and the pilots had sought a one-year contract while the company preferred a three-year agreement.

The airline also said it has told the association that issues involving Nordair are not negotiable because Air Canada does not own any shares in the Montreal-based regional airline.

Merger of the two airlines was approved by the Canadian transport commission last month, but the decision is being appealed by the Ontario government.

The pilots want a merger of pilot seniority lists for the two airlines. Taylor has said the companies would operate separately.

If a strike does occur, it would be the first in CALPA's 41-year history.

BOY FLED — INTO FLAMES

A seven-year-old boy being led to safety from his burning home in Nanaimo died early this morning when he suddenly turned and ran into the heart of the fire.

Jamie Larsen was killed and six other people were taken to hospital when a wooden house in the 3800 block Mclaasic Place suddenly caught fire at about 1 a.m.

In hospital suffering minor burns and smoke inhalation are Mrs. Zoe-Ann Larsen, her daughter Tamra, 12, her son Richard 15 and A. D. Thorkelson; 31 and his sons Gordon, 9 and Nigel 11.

Police said Thorkelson woke around 1 a.m. to find the house engulfed in flames. He helped Mrs. Larsen out the bedroom window and then re-entered the house to search for the children.

He found Jamie, and was leadin him out, when the young boy apparently panicked with only a few yards to go to safety.

"Mr. Thorkelson was leading him down the hall when the boy bolted and ran into the heart of the fire," said a police spokesman.

He said that Thorkelson managed to stumble from the house before being overcome by smoke.

Movie Death-Trap For 377 in Iran

Times News Services

TEHRAN — Ten people are being questioned as suspects in the fire that killed nearly 400 people in a movie theatre in Abadan during the weekend.

Gen. Reza Razmi, chief of police in the southern Iranian city, said several of those arrested were schoolteachers but he did not elaborate further.

Normal life in Abadan, Iran's oil-industry capital, has ground to a virtual standstill since arsonists flooded the Rex movie theatre with gasoline and set it on fire.

The streets echoed with scores of mourning Moslem muezzins reciting the Koran, and many in the city wore black today. Large sections of the city's commercial centres were closed.

Iranian officials Sunday accused Moslem extremists seeking the overthrow of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of setting the fire in the packed moviehouse, the doors of which were locked.

The fire came on the eve of the 25th annniversary of the Shah's return to power in a coup backed by the CIA after a brief exile.

It was generally assumed that the arson was the work of ultra-conservative Moslem fanatics who oppose the shah's reform programs and also demand all public entertainment be shut down during the holy month of Ramadan, now in progress. Since Ramadan began Aug. 8, they have made bomb or arson attacks on movie houses, restaurants, nightclubs, banks and private and public buildings.

The police chief said seven of those arrested were carrying explosives when they were picked up. He said two employees of the movie house

Although they finished their day's work after sundown, it was also a bright Sunday for Coquitlam Adanacs, who completed a remarkable comeback to defeat New Westminster Salmonbellies and advance into the Western Lacrosse Association final against Victoria Shamrocks. Page 10.

Victoria player Wendy Barlow also enjoyed her weekend. Wendy retained her women's singles title and shared the doubles title with Jennifer Bland of Victoria in the Canadian junior tennis championhips at Ottawa. Later, Barlow was selected to represent Canada in Federation Cup senior competition in Australia. Page 12.

Israelis Avenge Attack

Times News Services

Israeli planes attacked two Palestinian centres in Lebanon at dawn today in retaliation for a Palestinian grenade and sub-machine-gun attack on an Israeli airline bus in London less than 24 hours before.

The Palestine Liberation Organization said three guerrillas were killed and 14 were wounded in the Israeli attack on the Burj el Barajneh refugee camp on the south side of Beirut. The communique said the village school in Damour, 22 kilometres south of the Lebanese capital, also was attacked, but there were no casualties there.

The Israelis said all planes returned safely to base from the dawn attack, the first of its kind in 19 days.

A guerrilla base in southern Lebanon was hit on Aug. 3 after a bomb explosion in a Tel Aviv market killed a 71-year-old man and wounded 49 persons.

In the London bus attack, an Israeli airline stewardess and one of the Palestinian attackers were killed, and two other stewardesses and seven British bystanders were injured. One of the injured stewardesses was in critical condition.

One of the terrorists also was killed when a grenade exploded in his face, Scotland Yard said.

Two jets strafed and rocketed the refugee camp, a stronghold of Dr. George Habash's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, and three others hit Damour, witnesses reported.

Palestinian spokesmen in Beirut said anti-aircraft fire hit one of the raiders, but the Israeli spokesmen said all planes returned safely.

Brewery and union officials say they are not optimistic a meeting today with mediator Clark Gilmour will get negotiations going in the strike-lockout that has shut down most of B.C.'s beer industry for over two months.

The parties have not met since talks broke off June 27.

John Langley, spokesman for the Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers, said Sunday while the union accepted the mediator's invitation to meet, it did not mean a weakening in the union's position.

"We're still firm and we're not crawling back," said Langley. "We're not very optimistic because this has gone on so long."

In Vancouver, Eric Harris, chief negotiator for the breweries, said he is not optimistic about today's meeting. "We'll just have to wait and see," he said.

Today's meeting came after union pickets in Victoria stepped up activity Saturday at the Labatts brewery to protest the import of U.S. beer by the provincial government.

Ray Wainwright, president of Local 280 of the Canadian Brewery Workers, said the government was contributing to the imbalance of trade between Canada and the United States by importing U.S. beer.

"Here we are trying to save Canadian dollars and on the other hand, Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Rafe Mair is spending thousands of Canadian dollars on importing American beer."

Wainwright also charged the government with breaking both federal and provincial laws by importing beer.

Secret Huddle

LONDON (CP) — Notice of a meeting between the Queen and two Canadian government emissaries here June 15 at which constitutional changes were discussed was omitted from the list of royal appointments at Canada's request, the Palace announced today.

PM FLOGS ECONOMY

Meanwhile, the prime minister's office has reportedly been given two weeks to make a decision on whether or not Trudeau should call a fall election.

The economic recovery push is timed to coincide with the election countdown, prime ministerial aides say.

The election decision will be made just before or just after Labor Day, Sept. 4. The exact timing will determine whether the country votes Oct. 30, Nov. 6, Nov. 13 — or next year.

In a telexed message to the premiers released today, Trudeau says Ottawa "will undertake to fully discuss with you before deciding to make changes to federal-provincial contractual or legislative arrangements presently in effect."

But given the share that payments to provinces represent in the federal budget, "it is to be expected that some provincial programs maybe affected by a reduction or re-ordering of federal expenditures," the prime minister says.

Trudeau said in a televised address Aug. 1 that he would reduce the federal budget by at least $2 billion.

Last week, Robert Andras, treasury board president, announced cuts in current and planned spending of $1.5 billion, and promised at least $1 billion more in the next two weeks.

Riled Aussies Storm Stock Exchange

Times News Services

SYDNEY — Stockbrokers piled up furniture at the entrance to the Sydney Stock Exchange today to block an invasion by demonstrators chanting "make the rich pay!" in protest against a proposed severe new federal budget.

The protesters, who contend the new budget will assure higher taxes, pushed past police and smashed plate glass panels in the doors of the trading floor but stockbrokers quickly piled tables and chairs at the doors, making an temporary but effective barricade.

Police said 139 demonstrators were arrested here and in the city of Brisbane, where labor protests against the budget also turned violent.

The budget completes Fraser's declared plan to dismantle the social welfare structure built during the Labor government of the former prime minister, the late Gough Whitlam. It raises income taxes and boosts prices on cigarettes, whisky, gasoline, imported cars, clothing and shoes.

Trading at the stock exchange was delayed for more than 10 minutes while police cleared protesters but outside police clashed with demonstrators.

Earlier, about 5,000 demonstrators carrying anti-budget posters and chanting "Fraser out!" marched along one of the city's main thoroughfares to city hall where they were addressed by Federal Opposition Labor Party Leader Bill Hayden and State Labor Government Leader Nevilla Wran.

Wran told the crowd the budget was "abominable".

Hayden, said people were angry over the budget. "The reaction of the community is one of seething anger and resentment," he said.

Fraser, however, said Sunday the budget had been better received than his two previous budgets, but he has been loudly booed at every public appearance since it was presented and nearly was hit by a paint bomb and raw eggs in Melbourne last Friday.

THEY'RE UNSUNG HEROES

By PAT DUFOUR
Times Staff

The two servicemen must remain anonymous.

There's a reason.

The men — a lieutenant and warrant officer respectively — are explosive ordnance disposal experts with the Canadian armed forces' Fleet Diving Unit at Colwood.

Their job is both dirty and dangerous.

A recent report of the Energy, Mines and Resources' explosive branch lauds people like the lieutenant and his co-workers.

It describes them as the unsung heroes of most attempted bombings and adds:"The expertise and ingenuity of the military in bomb disposal is unsurpassed."

In 1977 alone, 479 disposal operations were performed across Canada by EOD teams and from 1970 to 1976, EOD teams destroyed approximately 50,000 pounds of dynamite, 53,000 electric and non-electric blasting caps, 28,000 feet of detonating cord and 16,000 feet of safety fuse.

The EOD personnel, based in a pastoral Colwood setting, have handled their share of that workload.

In 1977 they handled 63 jobs, 30 of them civilian and 28 military.

Five involved what they call IEDs — improvised explosive devices — or in plain words, bombs.

He tells of a house in Saanich which was left as a potential powder keg after an indoor swimming pool had been installed.

The dynamite found in an adjacent boiler room, he says, was stuck to the ground.

"We had to neutralize it to remove it."

He says almost a whole box of blasting caps was also found at the top of a closet.

The lieutenant says every job is handled as remotely as possible on the assumption it involves live explosive.

A telescopic pole that extends to 18 feet and has a variety of useful features is an important part of their equipment, as well as their blast shields, heavy helmets and well-padded flash jackets.

During a recent strike, one of their jobs was to dispose of a possible bomb.

"We handled it as if it was a live bottle of nitro glycerine," the warrant officer recalls.

War souvenirs, the lieutenant says, are often potential sources of tragedy.

In an effort to defuse the danger in homes of local servicemen, the EOD unit recently placed an article in the armed forces' newspaper Lookout, offering to examine any souvenirs to see if they are safe.

The offer was made on a no-questions-asked basis.

In an effort to cut down risks run by children, safety lectures are given in local schools.

He warns youngsters and adults should keep away from any Mark 25 smoke flares they may find on beaches or in other areas.

They normally are used as beacons, burning out and eventually sinking into the sea. Some, however, can be duds or only partially consumed and can cause serious burns.

He tells of one youngster who courted fate by picking one up as a souvenir, unaware of the danger.

By the time the experts were called in to dispose of it, the youngster had worked on it, unknowingly, for hours.

"It was shining like a new belt buckle," the lieutenant says.

While the EOD unit handle all explosive disposals, the lieutenant says people should first phone their local police, who will then automatically contact the Colwood unit.

There's a minimum of two men on every EOD team and this is expanded when necessary.

Their protective helmets are equipped so that they are in constant communication with each other.

All procedures are taped for reference in dealing with similar situations in the future.

Planners Approve Panhandle Lots

Panhandle lots are not the problem they were thought to be in Saanich and the municipality should continue to allow this kind of development as an economical use of land.

That's the conclusion reached by the municipal planning department after a random survey of 52 of the 210 panhandle lots in the sewered area of Saanich.

The department's report, which will be considered Tuesday by council's lands, planning and housing committee, explains that panhandle lots are those providing street access by a relatively narrow strip of land.

It says there had been concern that such parcels were "undesirable and generally substandard," but this was not borne out by the recent survey, in which officials called on owners of panhandle lots and asked them to complete a questionnaire.

Officials were able to contact 30 of the 52 owners and the results of the survey "indicate a general satisfaction with panhandle lots and did not identify any real problem areas," the report states.

Ninety per cent of the residents contacted thought the lot size was just right and 80 per cent said they would live on another panhandle lot.

Noise was not a problem for most of the residents. Seventy per cent described the lot as "not noisy" while the remainder conceded only that it is "moderately noisy."

However, a similar questionnaire distributed to lot owners immediately in front of the panhandle lots found less agreement on the noise question.

In this category, 59 per cent answered not noisy, 36 per cent moderately noisy and five per cent very noisy.

Access strips to the panhandle lots are 15 feet wide, or 25 feet if two such lots are adjacent to each other. While the report describes this width as adequate, it notes that houses on the lots in front can be situated only five feet from the panhandle neighbors' driveway.

To minimize traffic noise, it recommends increasing the side yard setback for houses beside the access strip.

The department also recommends that the siting of houses on panhandle lots, as well as those adjacent to them, be regulated by covenant to ensure the best possible siting.

In addition, developers should be encouraged to plant landscape screens along the access strips to the lots.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I was interested to read of B.C.'s heroin treatment program. Is heroin really the strongest drug and where does it come from? F.G.

A. Yes it is the strongest drug. It is a chemically-processed form of opium from the juice of the unripe seed capsules of the white poppy.

Q. Reading about the dispute at the Vancouver General Hospital, I wondered how many beds it has. Do you know? H.B.

A. It has 1,815 beds and is the largest general hospital in Canada.

Park Projects Trimmed Back

Construction of a $220,000 visitors's centre at historic Fort Rodd Hill has been postponed owing to recent federal government budget cuts.

Other projects delayed as the result of Prime Minister Trudeau's pledge for a reduction of federal government spending are a $100,000 program to stabilize the Fisgard Lighthouse causeway, and development of walking trails costing $50,000.

Park superintendent Ian Maclean said today the budget for this fiscal year (April 1, 1978 to March 31, 1979) has been cut from $1,042,000 to $603,000.

"But I'm very hopeful the cuts won't delay our five-year park restoration plan," he said.

Last Novermber, Parks Canada Minister Hugh Faulkner said $4.7 million would be allocated for restoration work at the park over the next five years.

MacLean said construction of the centre has been postponed for at least two years.

"There will be no staff cuts but the new budget probably means there will be no staff additions for possibly two years."

The budget cuts do not effect on-going projects. These include the restoration and preservation of the fort's upper and lower artillery batteries (150,000), improvements to Fisguard Lighthouse ($113,000), fencing ($50,000) and installation of underground power lines and telephone wiring ($40,000).

UVic Readies Search To Replace Pedersen

University of Victoria vice-president Dr. George Pedersen's appointment as the head of Simon Fraser University will set in motion an elaborate search procedure to find a successor.

UVic acting president Alfred Fischer said today a 13-member committee to start search proceedings will be elected probably in early October.

The committee will be made up of faculty and staff and chaired by UVic president Howard Petch.

It will more than likely start looking inside the university in November for candidates for the vice-prediency, he said.

But if nobody is found inside they will look elsewhere, he said.

The search for a new vice president could extend across Canada, Fischer added.

Seniors Get Discount Cabs

Victoria Ald. Robin Blencoe's campaign to get senior citizens a 10 per cent discount from local merchants experienced a major breakthrough this week when C & C taxi agreed to join.

Blencoe said today the taxi company's decision is significant because it is a major business.

Since he started his drive last May, Blencoe has managed to get the co-operation of smaller merchants such as bakeries and clothing stores but met opposition from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and larger businesses in town.

He was accused of being unrealistic and told that businesses just can't afford to give a 10 per cent cut to the elderly, some of whom don't even need the discount.

C&C is the first large business in town to offer the discount and it's a step toward proving the concept is a good one, Blencoe said.

He said he wants the chamber of commerce and other businesses to sit up and take notice how the idea is catching on.

With the help of a group of Silver Threads members, Blencoe is planning a September telephone survey of local businesses to find out how many are willing to put their names on a discount list.

In October he plans to send out advertisements advising stores of a deadline date for getting their names on the list.

The completed list will be circulating around town before Christmas and should influence the shopping habits of younger people as well as the elderly, Blencoe predicts.

For Three Salmon, a Fine Return

WE WERE VISITED BY Americans last week, and when they returned to California after a couple of days spent fishing and sight-seeing in these parts, they took with them eleven pints of our good Canadian salmon.

By so doing, they made themselves part of a tourist element that has been the target for any number of barbed shafts this summer.

Taking our fish, by golly! Damn-Yankees raiding a Canadian resource! And so on, with sound and fury drastically outstripping commonsense.

But before getting our hackles up, perhaps we should take a closer look at the four Americans who put their motor home into our driveway.

David and Marquita, Larry and Shirley, came north by easy stages from San Jose. They had looked forward to the trip for a long time . . . saved for it, and planned it carefully.

They hoped that catching Campbell River salmon would be part of it. But only part. And it seems to me that in return for the three coho they took back canned to the United States, they made a handsome return in coin of the realm expended in this area.

First, though, something about these visitors themselves.

Like most Americans of our acquaintance, Win and I found them to be courteous, considerate, warm-hearted to a fault, and keenly appreciative of this green country. They had, in fact, a gift of enthusiasm. This was contagious. If familiarity hadn't bred contempt, it had at least left us jaded to the beauty of sea and mountains. It was good to see our country through their eyes.

On their first day with us, the weather was sour with half a gale blowing. It was no day for smallboat fishing. So we went uptown for a poke-about in the Campbell River stores.

Next day broke fair. We put my boat in, rented another, and set out to try our luck.

In the course of a year, I catch enough salmon to harden me a trifle to the excitement of the game. Not so with Larry and Shirley. In spite of my urging, they were reluctant to set their trolling rods in the holders, preferring to sit tensely hanging on to them.

When the first coho hit, Larry went pale and all but speechless with excitement. We landed it more by luck than good management. Larry collapsed to a thwart and sat staring at his fish. His hands were trembling.

"Wonderful!" he said. "That's wonderful!"

Let us now get down to figures. On the one hand, three coho salmon represented by II pint sealers of fish, against what Larry and Shirley, Dave and Marquita left behind in the way of cash expenditure.

Full tank of gas for a motor home, which manages a mere five miles to the gallon, $38.90.

One order of groceries at supermarket, $32.

Then there was the outlay directly related to catching those coho. It went like this:

Two 'Deep Six' planers, two 'Super-Strip Teasers', two packages herring strip, one 'Steelex' salmon reel, for a total of $23.60.

Add boat rental, and various miscellaneous items such as one dozen ears of corn, cigarettes, film, fruit, potato chips and electricity used, and we arrive at a grand total for two days of about $240.

I'm not suggesting that every visiting American spends at this rate. Some lay out less, some more. But by an elementary process of projection, I think it's obvious that the return from our Campbell River salmon does help keep Campbell River solvent.

Far be it from me to deny that there are American fish-hogs, just as there are Canadian fish-hogs. That breed is international and universal.

But . . .

The average American visitor as I find him is much more than an economic asset to our home area. He is a law-abiding, generous and very decent operator, and he is welcome to the high-priced salmon that he takes away.
